

URGE REPRISALS BY AIR ATTACKS ON ALL GERMANY

Raid Berlin, Citizens Ask;
2 Die, 16 Hurt by Zeppelin Which Falls.

LONDON, June 17.—A largely attended citizens' meeting at the London Opera house today adopted a resolution proposed by the lord mayor, urging the government to initiate a policy of reprisals in the shape of ceaseless attacks on German towns and cities so that their populations may experience the effects of such methods of warfare and thus be induced to force the German authorities to cease their air attacks upon open towns.

Several local mayors and members of the house of commons were present, and it was suggested that reprisals should be undertaken collectively by at least two of the allied powers, namely, France and England, and that such cities as Frankfurt and Berlin should be selected.

Two Killed by Zeppelins.
Two persons were killed and sixteen injured in last night's air raid, during which a Zeppelin was brought down. The following official report of the raid was given out today:

"Last night's air raid was carried out by two enemy airships. One airship crossed the Kentish coast at about 2 a. m. and dropped six bombs on a coast town. According to latest police reports, two persons were killed, sixteen were injured, and a large number of houses were damaged.

"The second raid attacked the east coast town of West Anglia at 2.30 a. m. It was heavily shelled by guns of the anti-aircraft defense and driven off. It is probable it was damaged by gunfire. Shortly afterward this raid, after dropping a number of bombs in open places, was engaged and brought down in flames by a pilot of the Royal Flying corps. The airship was destroyed.

"There were no casualties or damages in West Anglia."

Thousands See Destruction.
A dispatch from an east coast town says that thousands of persons witnessed the destruction of the Zeppelin. The attack by anti-aircraft guns on the dirigible lasted fully half an hour and people issued from their houses half dressed to watch the event.

When the black object drifting across the sky from the southeast to the northwest was seen to burst into flames the spectators cheered tumultuously. Pedestrians and cyclists dashed off in the direction of the fallen airship, but owing to the unexpectedly long distance few succeeded in locating the Zeppelin, which fell a few miles from the coast. It had been first sighted by a land gun, which was then finished by an airplane, which the Zeppelin fought to the last with her guns.

Entire Crew Killed.
The dirigible dropped in a field of corn, far from any habitation, and was completely destroyed. All of the crew were killed and their bodies badly charred. Some of the men appeared to have jumped from the doomed airship. Doctors hurried to the spot, but their services were needless.

The British airman who attacked the Zeppelin descended near by unhurt. According to the story of an inspector who witnessed the affair, searchlights enabled him to follow the movements of the Zeppelin and the attacking airman. The Zeppelin twisted and turned in an attempt to escape or beat the airplane off, and the machine gunfire of the dirigible was heard distinctly. Presently another airman came upon the scene, and the Zeppelin continued to zigzag in an endeavor to head out to sea. But the first airman held to his quarry and within a few minutes the end came.

Swedes Drive Off Zeppelin.
COPENHAGEN, via London, June 17.—A Zeppelin was observed about 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon outside the harbor of Cimbria, Sweden. A violent cannonade was directed against the dirigible, which withdrew in a damaged condition.

ITALIAN KING
O. K.'S CHANGE IN HIS MINISTRY

ROME, via Paris, June 17.—Semi-official announcement is made that Premier Boselli has proposed to King Victor Emmanuel a reconstitution of the ministry and that the king has approved the names submitted by the premier. Many of the present ministers will retain their portfolios.

It is understood Gen. Gastano Grandi has been selected as minister of war, that Vice Admiral Arturo Triolo will be minister of marine, Gen. Dall'Olio, minister of armaments and munitions, and Riccardo Bianchi, minister of transportation, the latter succeeding Enrico Arlotto, who will become high commissioner to the United States, remaining in the cabinet as minister without portfolio.

All Folkestone Sang as German Air Bombs Tore English Town and Civilians to Bits

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
FOLKESTONE, England, May 31.—[Correspondence.]—Among those who experienced the horrors of the recent German air raid on Folkestone, in which many persons were killed and injured, was the Rev. Burris A. Jenkins of Kansas City, Mo.

In a statement given the Associated Press Mr. Jenkins graphically described this record breaking attack and told of his sensations during the rain of destruction from the sky.

"It was our first time under fire and it reminded me of a Missouri cyclone," he said. "The only drawback to this comparison is that the sun was shining in a clear blue sky over a placid sea."

Sing as Houses Cave In.
"As the shells were crashing around us and houses were caving in, before I knew it I was humming a long forgotten tune, doubtless subconsciously associated with those old days. Two other men in our party independently testified that they also began singing softly."

"Perhaps this tendency to sing or whistle is a manifestation of nerves, and explains why troops always do so when we see them embarking for battle. They know that next day they will be in the trenches—maybe over the parapet. At all events, we all confessed to nerves and fear."

"Most people took to the cellars. Had I known there was a cellar handy, or that it is considered good form in the circumstances, I should have followed, for soon I found myself alone on the less overlooking the sea, where I had gone at the first cry of 'Zeppelin.'"

Watch for German Raiders.
"When I rushed out of our house by the seaside I found crowds gathering toward in the direction of the sun. I could see nothing for the glare; neither, apparently, could others."

"Suddenly two little girls cried: 'There they are!' Then I saw them, two airplanes, not Zeppelins, emerging from the disk of the sun almost overhead. Their four, or five, in a line, and others and others, all like bright silver insects hovering against the blue of the sky. The heavens seemed full of them."

"The second raid attacked the east coast town of West Anglia at 2.30 a. m. It was heavily shelled by guns of the anti-aircraft defense and driven off. It is probable it was damaged by gunfire. Shortly afterward this raid, after dropping a number of bombs in open places, was engaged and brought down in flames by a pilot of the Royal Flying corps. The airship was destroyed."

them. There were about twenty in all and we were charmed with the beauty of the sight. I am sure few of us thought seriously of danger."

People Unafraid of Danger.
"Then the air was split by the whistle and rush of the first bomb, which sounded like the shrill scream of a car. This was followed at once by a sensation that shook the earth. I heard nobody shriek, weep, or cry aloud. The people were marvelously controlled."

"I glanced in the direction of the shellburst, a hundred yards away, and the debris was going up like a column of smoke. Then came two more strokes, apparently in the same spot. Then three other bombs fell. I afterward found the missiles wrecked the O-Royal and wounded our motor driver."

"Then another bomb demolished the manor house by the sea. Two others now fell in the water behind me, and a gravel and mud and water spouted up in a geyser to the top of the cliffs where I stood."

Unknown Number of Shells.
"Later I learned that one of these shots tore off the legs of a little boy playing with his sister. The mother lay in a faint and the little sister, driven mad, rushed blindly into the water. She was rescued by a wounded soldier."

"Other shots fell, but I could count no further. They came thick and fast, like crackling, rolling blasts of our western lightning and thunder. Nobody has reported the number of shells so far as I know. But there were 200 or more casualties, nearly a hundred of them fatalities."

"Anti-aircraft shells were now bursting on the fringes of the air fleet. Then followed in the distance the purr of the machine guns, and we knew that our own planes were up in pursuit. We were later informed that three of the hostile fleet were brought down in the channel."

Civilians Torn to Bits.
"When I reached the spot where the first three bombs had fallen glass covered the street for a block. In the middle of the macadam road was a shell hole six or eight feet across and three deep. Here lay two men in uniform."

"The remarkable thing was that I heard no shrieking and saw no weeping nor wringing of hands. All faces were white; teeth were clenched, lips compressed. Women clutched at their garments or spasmodically smote their breasts."

"But not a mean nor a loud word escaped any lip within my hearing. The English are a marvelous people."

Must Get Raw Material.
Herr Branting says the most essential thing which the Scandinavian governments now have to do is to arrange with England and America for the shipment of raw materials."

A sidelight on the urgency of such action are the proposals for the reduction in the gasoline allowance for the Stockholm public automobiles from thirty to eighteen liters and the reduction of the hours for automobile service from eighteen to ten hours daily, forbidding the use of these automobiles at night."

Nearly all of the Swedish cotton factories are closed because of the lack of raw material. The shares in the great Grangeberg iron mines are declining sharply."

Unite on Foreign Policy.
To Foreign Minister Lindman's appeal in parliament, "We must all co-operate to get through these difficult times," Branting replied:

"Despite all of our differences on internal questions, I know that I have all of my party behind me when I say that we Social Democrats heartily support this policy of guarding our country's independence by maintaining a clear and impartial neutrality."

Amid cheers the leaders of all of the parties rallied to Lindman's assertion that the first duty was the preservation of Sweden's neutrality."

Americans who are remaining in Berlin write to me that the police are granting them permission to leave the city for the usual week-end house parties."

Big Loan Under Three Billions

Washington, D. C., June 17.—[Special.]—While officials on duty at the treasury department today stated that it will probably be Tuesday or Wednesday of this week before the total amount of subscriptions to the Liberty loan of 1917 is known, the latest estimates received indicate that the grand total will not exceed $3,000,000,000.

Work on the issue of bonds just closed is progressing rapidly at the bureau of engraving and printing. The treasury officials hope to begin the distribution to subscribers not later than July 15.

All the organizations which contributed to the success of the Liberty loan were called upon tonight by Secretary McAdoo in telegrams to the federal reserve banks to aid in making the Red Cross fund campaign equally successful.

Yarros Outlines Russian
Attitude Toward War

There is no longer any force in the Russian government that can send men into battle, according to Victor S. Yarros, who addressed the current events class in the First Congregational church of Evanston yesterday.

Mr. Yarros was exiled from Russia twenty-five years ago.

"The people of Russia," he said, "want peace as soon as possible. It can be brought about without injustice to the allies. As soon as the Russians are convinced the allies are not in the war for territory or money they probably will feel that it is their duty to assist the allied arm in Palestine. The contingent is the first sent by Italy into the Holy Land."

Ambassador Sharp Gives Medals.
PARIS, June 17.—The American ambassador, William G. Sharp, visited the hospital of the Red Cross yesterday, and in the presence of the Belgian, Dutch and Portuguese ministers and French medical officers distributed military medals and war crosses to the wounded.

Message to Take Back.
Count Balogh asked that this message be taken back to Italy: "The cry of victory has inspired the Italian immigrants in this country. We ask you, members of the mission, to take to the soldiers and sailors and all the people of Italy our fraternal kiss. We ask you to drink to the United States of America, which has taken up the fight of mankind against the brutal force of the enemy."

Among the prominent members of the Italian colony who attended the banquet as a welcoming committee were Alberto N. Gualano, Dr. A. Monaco, G. Rodriguez, Dr. Antonio Romano, Fausto G. Vecchiore, Dr. Pietro Cutrera, Francesco Bragno, Giuseppe Malato, Pietro Russo, Davide Bacci, Salvatore Merando, and Urbano Urbani.

Medal for Prince.
Washington, D. C., June 17.—The Prince of Udine received word by cable tonight that he had been awarded the Italian silver medal for bravery during the war. The prince was awarded the medal during fourteen months as commander of a destroyer in the lower Adriatic.

HUNGER DANGER GROWING DAILY IN PETROGRAD

Peasants Will Not Send
In Provisions for Paper Money.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT
(Special Cable to The Tribune.)
STOCKHOLM, June 17.—Apeia it is declared that it soon will be quite impossible to provision Petrograd even on the strictest rationing basis. The official ration of 300 grams of bread per person seldom is reached and sugar is scarce.

These conditions are due to the fact that the peasants, having no use for the paper money, are refusing to bring in their produce. They would accept manufactured goods in payment, but those also are scarce.

Some of the labor leaders see a political purpose in the closing of the factories. "They declare that it is a ruse to get the turbulent workmen out of Petrograd and scattered through the smaller towns, thus diminishing the danger of a counter revolution. Hence these leaders are opposed to the proposed evacuation."

Morosev's big calico factory at Ivanovo Voznesensk, near Nizhni Novgorod, again is in the hands of the proprietor. The workmen once took over the management, but they soon were unable to continue owing to the lack of money. Morosev now is dictating absolutely on the wages and rules.

COALITION BODY FORMED IN SPAIN TO BALK TEUTONS

Organization Also Will Combat Military Crisis.

LONDON, June 18, 3 a. m.—A Daily News dispatch from Madrid Sunday says:

"A very important development of which the results can hardly be foreseen has taken place in the political crisis."

"After a conference held last night at the chamber of deputies by various sections of the left—the reform party, republicans, radicals, and Socialists—it was decided to issue a revolutionary and anti-monarchist manifesto and form themselves into a bloc."

"The causes of this coalition are to be found in the military crisis and rumors of the imminent formation of a reactionary and pro-German government under Señor Maura and Gen. Weyler."

"The monarchist reform party of Señor Alvarez has declared in favor of a republic."

Acute Problem for Ministry.
PARIS, June 17.—Some light is thrown on the present situation in Spain, which has been the cause of misgivings recently, by a special correspondent of the Petit Parisien, who has been making an investigation there. He writes the following summary of the situation which made the position of the late cabinet untenable and presents an acute problem for the new ministry:

"First of all, the situation in Catalonia (a district of about 12,000 square miles in the northeast of Spain, with a population of nearly 2,000,000, whose capital is Barcelona) is critical. The inhabitants are aroused against the Spanish government and are agitating insistently for complete independence. One faction openly declares in a Barcelona newspaper that it will obey no law not passed by Catalans for Catalans, and demands independence at any price."

Many Threaten to Strike.
Aside from this local situation, the correspondent finds that the economic state of affairs in general demands urgent action by the cabinet. Strikes are imminent, especially in Asturias (an important district in northwestern Spain, on the Bay of Biscay) and may break out tomorrow. Strikes are under discussion by all railroad employees and most of the industrial workers. The cost of living has advanced 15 to 25 per cent in the last three months, and now the poor can no longer endure the strain."

The supply of coal is so scanty that it is almost impossible to operate trains. Stagnation of the export trade, owing to the submarine warfare, is resulting in growing irritation."

External Situation Grave.
Finally, there is the external situation, which everywhere is recognized as grave for Spain, and which, the correspondent says, is made infinitely troublesome by espionage, German intimidation, and the Germanophile press, which has wounded and antagonized Spanish pride."

URGE REPRISALS BY AIR ATTACKS ON ALL GERMANY

Raid Berlin, Citizens Ask;
2 Die, 16 Hurt by Zeppelin Which Falls.

LONDON, June 17.—A largely attended citizens' meeting at the London Opera house today adopted a resolution proposed by the lord mayor, urging the government to initiate a policy of reprisals in the shape of ceaseless attacks on German towns and cities so that their populations may experience the effects of such methods of warfare and thus be induced to force the German authorities to cease their air attacks upon open towns.

Several local mayors and members of the house of commons were present, and it was suggested that reprisals should be undertaken collectively by at least two of the allied powers, namely, France and England, and that such cities as Frankfurt and Berlin should be selected.

Two Killed by Zeppelins.
Two persons were killed and sixteen injured in last night's air raid, during which a Zeppelin was brought down. The following official report of the raid was given out today:

"Last night's air raid was carried out by two enemy airships. One airship crossed the Kentish coast at about 2 a. m. and dropped six bombs on a coast town. According to latest police reports, two persons were killed, sixteen were injured, and a large number of houses were damaged.

"The second raid attacked the east coast town of West Anglia at 2.30 a. m. It was heavily shelled by guns of the anti-aircraft defense and driven off. It is probable it was damaged by gunfire. Shortly afterward this raid, after dropping a number of bombs in open places, was engaged and brought down in flames by a pilot of the Royal Flying corps. The airship was destroyed.

"There were no casualties or damages in West Anglia."

Thousands See Destruction.
A dispatch from an east coast town says that thousands of persons witnessed the destruction of the Zeppelin. The attack by anti-aircraft guns on the dirigible lasted fully half an hour and people issued from their houses half dressed to watch the event.

When the black object drifting across the sky from the southeast to the northwest was seen to burst into flames the spectators cheered tumultuously. Pedestrians and cyclists dashed off in the direction of the fallen airship, but owing to the unexpectedly long distance few succeeded in locating the Zeppelin, which fell a few miles from the coast. It had been first sighted by a land gun, which was then finished by an airplane, which the Zeppelin fought to the last with her guns.

Entire Crew Killed.

PRICES OF COAL TO SOAR UNLESS U. S. TAKES HAND

Levy Next Winter May Hit $14 to $20 if Barons Are Not Halted.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., June 17.—(Special.)—Coal at $4 to $20 a ton by the beginning of next winter, and scarce at that price, is the grave prospect faced by householders unless the government stops the profiteering of the coal barons and brings order out of chaos in the industry.

This is the admission of officials of the trade commission and of the department of commerce who have been investigating the visible coal supply and production and transportation conditions.

U. S. May Seize Mines.

According to the administration, President Wilson intends to avert this calamity even if it should become necessary for him to take over a large number, if not all, of the coal mines in the name of the government, operate them, and commandeer the railroad rolling stock necessary to the distribution of fuel.

Certainly within a few weeks the president will have been clothed with sufficient power to do whatever is necessary to speed up the production and the transportation of coal, to curb the rapacity of producers and dealers, and anything else required to protect the householders from extortion and privation.

More Power for Wilson.

President Wilson already has broad powers to regulate the coal industry in war time under the national defense laws.

The food control bill which will be taken up by the house tomorrow gives him authority to take over and operate coal mines.

The priority shipment bill passed by the senate yesterday authorizes him to give coal the right of way in transportation and to compel the provision of sufficient cars. Even broader powers are provided in Senator Pomeroy's bill which is likely to be passed if the coal situation shows no signs of improvement.

Coal Barons "Sting" Nation.

Even the government is having difficulty contracting for sufficient coal for the navy next year at a reasonable price. If there was any public anxiety on this score it was killed by the following public statement on May 12 by Francis B. Peabody, chairman of the coal production committee of the council of national defense:

"The cooperation of the representatives of the eastern semi-bituminous coal districts in agreeing to furnish the United States navy with its next year's coal supply on satisfactory terms presents an example of the splendid spirit which we believe will characterize the coal industry as a whole."

U. S. Refuses to Be Bled.

Mr. Peabody did not state the "satisfactory terms." They were disclosed today together with the information that the navy department regards the terms exorbitant and has refused to close the contracts proffered by the coal barons and pronounced reasonable by Mr. Peabody.

The navy this year is obtaining coal under last year's contracts at $2.95 a ton delivered at Hampton Roads. It transpires that the "same price" of $2.95 a ton offered by the operators is at the mine and that the navy would be required to pay freight of $1.40 a ton to Hampton Roads.

The whole dispute has been referred to the trade commission, which will endeavor to name a reasonable price.

Criticism Pick of Peabody.

There has been a good deal of criticism of the selection of Mr. Peabody, who is a highly successful coal baron himself, to head the important committee on coal production.

Complaint is heard that while the operators are boosting the price of coal without hindrance, Peabody is chiefly in evidence with flowery appeals to householders to burn less coal in summer.

The Illinois council of national defense recently voted for an investigation of the coal price scandal. The investigation was proposed by Orden Armour, who has been severely "stung" by the coal trust on the 1,000 tons his company uses daily.

The motion was carried despite the lukewarm attitude of Chairman Insull, whose Commonwealth Edison company Mr. Peabody is heavily interested in.

Mr. Peabody is said to have been extremely wroth when he heard of the proposed investigation, and said many harsh things about Mr. Armour.

NINE SLACKERS SENT TO JAIL TILL FURTHER ORDERS

Twenty men arrested Saturday night for failing to register were arraigned before Commissioner Mason yesterday. Nine were committed to the county jail for further investigation and the remainder released after being registered and promised to return to the department of justice this morning.

Three of those released told Mason they had registered, but had left their cards at home, and promised to produce them.

Police of the Desplains street stationing will begin a drive on employment agencies, principally in Canal and West Madison streets, in a hunt for registration dodgers, following reports that "babe" have flocked there for any sort of employment that they might evade the demand for slackers.

Roads Speed Up Grain Movement

New York, June 17.—A statement that the grain transportation situation throughout the country shows marked improvement was authorized tonight by Walter Harrison, chairman of the railroad war board. Reports received from the twenty-three principal grain carrying roads, the statement says, show there is comparatively little car shortage affecting grain movements.

TRYING TO WORK 'PULLS' TO DODGE DRAFT SERVICE

Government Officials Are Being Besieged; Even Seek to Bribe.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., June 17.—(Special.)—President Wilson has approved the regulations governing the exemption of registrants from the selective draft to the new national army and it is possible they will be promulgated tomorrow.

As soon as the regulations are issued the administration will proceed with the appointment of the local and district exemption boards.

It is apparent that political influence will be used to procure exemption of individuals, and in many localities the efforts of politicians to procure places on these boards already have been noticeable.

Sensors, representatives, and other government officials are being besieged by parents and friends asking that certain registrants be exempted from conscription and attempting to bring influence to bear.

Offered $5,000 to Save Son.

Remainable stories are being related around Washington at first hand in regard to such attempts. A wealthy manufacturer recently approached a United States senator saying he had "allowed" his boy to register but that he would depend upon the senator, an old friend, to see that his boy was not conscripted.

The senator resisted the idea that he would lend himself to such an attempt, and was indignant because the wealthy manufacturer should dare so to approach him. The manufacturer left the senator's room, and on his way out of the office told the senator's private secretary that "there is $5,000 in it for you if my boy is not conscripted."

Politician Fired Off Board.

The senator's secretary immediately informed his employer of the matter, and the senator at once ordered his automobile, it is said, to call upon the attorney general and lay the facts before him.

Another United States senator a few days ago asked Provost Marshal Gen. Crowder if it would be possible for him to see the list of those suggested for conscription and exemption boards in his own district at home. Gen. Crowder assented. The list was inspected, and, as the senator suspected, a certain politician had had himself placed on one of the boards. The senator promptly wrote to get the politician off the board.

SUNDAY ENDS WORK TO SAVE NEW YORKERS

New York, June 17.—(Special.)—Billy Sunday waved his farewell to New York today night from the platform of his tabernacle as the end of the greatest season of the greatest revival he ever had in his twenty-two years of preaching.

As a free will offering to him New York had poured forth $114,000.

HOLLAND WARNS OF DANGERS IN IMPORTS CURB

Hint Given That Action May Result Badly for Entente.

(BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.)

AMSTERDAM, via London, June 17.—F. E. Pothuizen, Dutch minister of agriculture, industry, and commerce, has issued a statement plainly intimating the restrictions of American exports to Holland might have two results which would be to the disadvantage of the entente powers.

He says that curtailment of the shipping of fodder to Holland already has put this country in an embarrassing position and that further action in this direction would leave only one solution, "the export of cattle on a large scale."

At another point he says unless Holland gets supplies from the west "it must turn for assistance eastward." At still another point, he says further restrictions may result in cutting off Dutch exports for the American relief in Belgium.

No Cereal Increase.

Mr. Pothuizen first points out that there has been no increase in the imports into Holland of any cereals or similar produce during the war, indicating Germany is getting none of these supplies. He then continues:

"Should the great difficulties of Dutch shipping further increase through any untoward action from America, there would be only one single solution—namely, the export of cattle on an extensive scale."

Holland has a superabundance of cattle and agricultural products, such as meat, milk, butter, cheese, eggs, vegetables, and fruit. This surplus has to be exported largely to the United Kingdom, France, and the American relief committee in Belgium. This export, including deliveries to the American relief committee in Belgium, will have to be stopped immediately in the event of America interfering with the importation of fodder.

May Turn to Eastward.

Holland is dependent on the importation of coal, iron, salt, and grain. If the supplies of grain from America and coal from England are diminished Holland will be compelled to acquire these commodities in some way or other from other sources. This can be brought about either by making use of its cattle supply, which has increased about 15 per cent since the beginning of the war, or by turning to account the various other commodities mentioned.

As soon as Holland has to give up its hopes of receiving its necessities from the west it will be obliged to turn eastward for its needs in coal and other products.

Name Admiral Madimoff Russian Naval Staff Head

LONDON, June 17.—Reuter's Petrograd correspondent telegraphs that Russian newspapers report that Admiral Madimoff, commander of the Baltic fleet, has been appointed chief of the naval general staff, and that Gen. Lushomsky has been appointed chief of the general staff to the commander in chief.

STEEL, $95 A TON, FOR EIGHT SHIPS MAY CAUSE ROW

(BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 17.—(Special.)—The announcement that Gen. Goethals had agreed to a price of $95 a ton on steel plates for eight vessels to be built at the plant of the Los Angeles shipbuilding company presages another storm for the United States shipping board and the emergency fleet corporation which is building the government's 3,000,000 ton merchant fleet. Gen. Goethals could not be seen today either to confirm or deny the price quoted.

Chairman Denman of the shipping board is decidedly opposed to paying the present market price for the steel to be used in the construction of the government's emergency fleet and thinks the government ought to "secure the steel for its merchant fleet at the same price as that at which it secured the steel for its naval construction program."

It is understood that Gen. Goethals has allotted the contracts at a figure that provides for the purchase of steel at 44 cents a pound for plates and 34 cents for shapes.

This would amount to approximately $95 a ton for plates and $84 for shapes, whereas the navy is only paying approximately $64 a ton for the plates it will use in its construction program.

Chairman Denman has already refused to sign one contract quoting steel at 44 cents a pound.

"I refused to sign the contract with the Downey Construction company of New York for ten steel ships because that contract called for the purchase of steel at what amounted to $95 a ton. The contract was returned to Gen. Goethals, and when it came to me again the figures on steel had been revised to 25 cents a pound," Denman said.

BRITONS TO STOP FOOD GAMBLING

LONDON, June 17.—Invited today to make a statement as to his intended policy as food controller, Baron Rhonda, president of the local government board, told the press that it would be obviously premature to enter into details, but he could say that the government had given him ample powers, even should it be necessary to the extent of taking over the food supplies of the country and the adoption of stringent measures to check all speculation in the necessities of life.

"The man who seeks to profit by the necessities of his country at this hour of her peril," Lord Rhonda said, "is nothing short of a blackmailer and must be treated as such."

BOOST BUSINESS, PRESIDENT SAYS

Washington, D. C., June 17.—Every means of stimulating business should be used now, President Wilson said in a letter to E. P. V. Ritter of the Merchants and Manufacturers Exchange of New York City made public today. Mr. Ritter wrote the president concerning the advisability of holding commercial conventions during the war.

"I not only see no reason why commercial conventions should be omitted during the war," the president replied, "but should regret to see any instrumentality neglected which has proved serviceable in stimulating business and facilitating its processes. This is not only not a time to allow any slowing up of business, but is a time when every sensible process of stimulation should be used."

DECORATION DUE TO CHICAGO AID: MISS CASSETTE

Gives Credit to This City for Legion of Honor Cross Bestowal.

BY FLOYD GIBBONS.

(Special Cable to The Tribune.) PARIS, June 17.—For your great services to France I am ordered by the president of the republic to present to you his sincere thanks and this symbol of appreciation and esteem from the people of France.

With these words M. Godart, head secretary of the department of the ministry of war, pinned the cross of the Legion of Honor on the shoulder of Miss Grace Cassette of Chicago, whose name is now the last addition to the noble list of chevaliers de la legion d'honneur. The Chicago girl is the second American woman to win during the war this decoration, which is the highest honor provided by the republic for women. Edith Wharton was awarded the first cross.

Accompanied by her mother, the presentation occurred without announcement on Thursday, when Miss Cassette, accompanied by her mother, the widow of Norman T. Cassette of Chicago, was summoned to the ministry of war. The two American women were ushered past the guards into the office of the department head, who made the presentation in the presence of a number of officers.

Following his presentation, M. Godart, after the French custom, kissed Miss Cassette once on each cheek.

Miss Cassette won the decoration for her ingenious work in the construction of mechanical appliances for the correction of afflictions among the wounded soldiers. She is director of the Franco-American corrective surgical appliance committee, and her studio at 18 Rue de Belsaunade, in the Latin quarter, is the headquarters of the committee's extensive work.

Is Busy War Worker.

Miss Cassette holds a clinic every morning in the Paris hospital, where patients are sent to her from all parts of France. Her work also has taken her every week to Troyes, in the army zone, where the government has appointed her head of the central orthopedic institution devoted to surgical correction. The government has assigned a major as an attaché to accompany her on her motor calls to hospitals and clinics, and she directs the work of seven army mechanical engineers engaged in making appliances.

The Chicago woman is a portrait painter, as valued likenesses of Judge Landis and Dr. Emil Hirsch of Chicago testify. She entered her present work when the war began, making use of her knowledge of anatomy, which she studied in Paris at the Ecole de Medicine as a part of her art course.

Gives Chicago the Credit.

She has developed wonderful ability at planning special devices to prevent amputations, to regain the use of paralyzed limbs, to relieve pain pressure, and to give maximum comfort to those left helpless by wounds resulting in severed nerves.

"The presentation was as much of a surprise as an honor to me," said Miss Cassette to The Tribune's correspondent. "I feel that the decoration was intended for Chicago, which has subsidized most of the money that has made the work possible. We use expensive quantities of leather, elastic, wood, and steel, and Chicago has paid the bill. Chicago deserves the credit."

GERMANS SEIZE PORTION OF LINE HELD BY FRENCH

Paris Admits Defeat in the Hurtelise Sector;
Other Fronts.

FRENCH FRONT

FRENCH.
PARIS, June 17.—After a bombardment carried out last night in the sector of Hurtelise the Germans attacked north of Monument, a salient in our positions, which they succeeded in penetrating. Driven back after a spirited engagement, the enemy was able to maintain himself only in a small element of our advanced line. The artillery fighting continued throughout the whole day in this region, as well as in the neighborhood of Cerny and north of Bray-en-Laonnois.

The Germans have been violently bombarding Reims for several days. Twelve hundred shells were thrown into the town today, resulting in several casualties among the civilian population.

DAY STATEMENT.
In the region northeast of Cerny the enemy violently bombarded our positions at Bovel, while German detachments assembled in the enemy trenches for an attack. Our artillery broke up these preparations and the attack was abandoned.

Farther east, in the sector of Hurtelise, the artillery fighting became extremely intense during the night. German reconnoitering parties east of Reims and north of Emmerfont were dispersed by our fire.

In the Woivre and in the Vosges, at Hiltendorf, we made surprise attacks which enabled us to take prisoners and destroy a number of shells of the enemy.

BRITISH.
LONDON, June 17.—The hostile artillery was active today south of Croisilles, southwest of Lens, and at a number of points between Arras and Ypres.

AVIATION.
There was great activity in the air yesterday. Seven German airplanes were brought down in air fighting, two of which fell within our lines. Three other enemy machines were driven down out of control. Two of our airplanes are missing.

DAY STATEMENT.
Portuguese troops have repelled several German raids during June. We captured a few prisoners last night as a result of a raid north of Gouzeaucourt. South of the Ypres-Comines canal a hostile raiding party, caught in our artillery barrage, failed to reach our trenches.

BELGIAN.
PARIS, June 17.—Last night there was great artillery activity in the region of Steenestrate and Het Sas and lively bomb fighting near the Ferryman's house.

On two occasions the Germans attempted vainly to approach our advance posts, established near this point during the course of the day. There was slight artillery activity along the whole Belgian-British front in the afternoon. We took several prisoners last night in a surprise attack, carried out by us north of Gouzeaucourt. South of the Ypres-Comines canal a German raid was caught under the barrage of our batteries and was unable to reach our trenches.

GERMAN.
BERLIN, June 17.—Nothing of importance has occurred.

DAY STATEMENT.
Army of Prince Rupprecht-In Flanders during Saturday evening the artillery duels were intense south-east of Ypres and north of Arras.

THE CRISIS IN CHINA

Reports from China state that the six southern provinces of Kwang-Tung, Kwang-Si, Kwei-Chow, Tun-Nan, Hu-Nan, and Sze-Chuen have coordinated their plans for active resistance to the rebellion in Peking. Southern troops are reported marching on Wu-Chang and all these provinces have representatives at a meeting of citizens at Canton.

The following dispatch was carried by the Associated Press last night: PEKING, June 18.—[Delayed.]—Gen. Chang Hsun now is dictator, President Li Yuan Hung being little more than a figurehead. The insurgents are calling a convention at Tien Tsin for the purpose of forming a provisional government headed by the dictator, who is expected to act as president and premier.

Gen. Chang Hsun's motives are obscure, but it is believed he is attempting to obtain from the former leaders of the Manchurian dynasty an agreement for restoration of the empire. He has urged the president to form a cabinet as soon as possible, suggesting that a provisional council similar to that in Russia be established and that a declaration of war against Germany be then made.

Southwest of Warnton English detachments tried to push forward, but were repulsed. From La Bassee canal to the Arras-Cambrai railway there was lively artillery activity by both sides. Near Monchy and Croisilles the English continued their attacks.

East of Monchy the enemy penetrated temporarily our trenches northwest of Bullecourt. In counter attacks, in which we captured more than seventy prisoners, the position was regained.

Southwest of Cambrai, and also between the Somme and Oise, the enemy was more violent than in recent days. Army of the crown prince—On the Aisne front the firing increased, at times to considerable intensity. On the Chemin des Dames storming troops of a Bavarian regiment forced its way into a French position northwest of the Hurtelise farm, captured a mountain prominence, and held it against three German counter attacks. Twenty-five French chasseurs and four machine guns were brought in. In Champagne the fighting activity was much more intense.

Army of Duke Albrecht—There is nothing to report.

ITALIAN FRONT

ITALIAN.
ROME, June 17.—The artillery was more active than usual yesterday on the Sarnia front, where enemy batteries of medium caliber repeatedly directed their fire on our positions in the Val Piccolo and the Val Grande. At various points on the front our reconnoitering parties inflicted losses on the enemy and brought in prisoners.

AVIATION.
This morning hostile aircraft bombarded Gorizia and other inhabited localities in the plain. There were no casualties and no damage.

MACEDONIAN FRONT

FRENCH.
PARIS, June 17.—Along the whole front moderate artillery activity was displayed.

AVIATION.
British aviators caused great damage to the enemy's positions.

CALLS WOMEN TO REGISTER TO SAVE FOOD

Hoover Wants Them All to Do Their "Bit"
in the Kitchen.

As usual from our harvest this year we will have little more than enough for our own supply, but we can divide with our allies if each individual makes some sacrifice; by eating at least one wheatless meal a day, substituting cornbread for other cereals.

"Second—We want to save the meat. For our cattle and hogs are decreasing, and we must send to our allies, so we wish every household to buy less, to serve smaller portions and to allow no waste."

"Third—We wish to save the fats. We consume three times the fats that are necessary for nutrition and we need them now for war. We wish no butter used in cooking; we want less lard, suet, and other pork products used."

"Fourth—Any deficiencies in food supply, by economy along the above lines, can be amply covered by increasing the use of fish, potatoes, beans, peas, turnips, cabbages, and vegetables generally, corn, buckwheat, rye, and rice which we will have in abundance this harvest."

Saving in Transport.
"Fifth. We want to save transportation. Our railways are unable to meet the war pressure for munitions, men and coal, so that we wish every one to consume products of local origin so far as possible, to buy from the local miller, the local packer, buy and eat vegetables grown near home."

"Sixth. We preach and want every one to preach 'The Gospel of the Clean Plate,' to buy less foodstuffs, to serve smaller portions, and to see that nothing of value goes into the garbage can. 'Aside from eating an increased proportion of these commodities in order to save on the staples, it is extremely important that any surplus of these commodities shall be preserved or well stored for winter use.'"

Appeal Made to Pastors.
New York, June 17.—Cooperation with the department of agriculture in improving upon the people of the country the necessity for the "largest possible production of food and the smallest possible quantity of waste" was urged by Herbert C. Hoover today in a letter to 200,000 clergymen of various denominations, distributed through the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

All pastors are requested to preach on food conservation Sunday, July 1, and to endeavor to interest religious and civic bodies in a food saving campaign.

FIVE AMBULANCE ORDERLIES TOLD TO QUIT; REFUSE

The last council budget in the appropriation for the city ambulance service included the salaries of five ambulance orderlies at $65 a month. Dr. George Hunt, chief ambulance surgeon, fought the appropriation, declaring that the jobs were not necessary.

Saturday he ordered the five orderlies—James Gorman and Leo Pietrowski of the East Chicago avenue station, George Bower and John Pino of the Harrison street station, and John Chapman of the Desplaines street station—relieved from duty. It was said he intended to replace them with two ambulance doctors at a monthly salary of $100.

The orderlies refused to quit, claiming civil service protection. They insisted, in addition, that it is unlawful to use any council appropriation for any other purpose than that for which it is set aside in the budget.

All five reported as usual for duty and worked on the ambulances as usual last night.

Dr. Hunt said the change was made on order of the finance committee. "The committee passed an order last Monday abolishing the position of ambulance orderly, because the appropriation had gone dry," said Dr. Hunt. "The order was transmitted to me by the chief of police. The orderlies can work on the ambulances as long as they want to, of course, but they will receive no pay from last Saturday on."

NEW ADMIRAL DISROBES RIGHT IN GRANT PARK

Tully D. White of Rock Island stood on the dock of the Chicago Yacht club at the foot of Monroe street yesterday and looked across the harbor to where the gunboat Luson rode at anchor. He removed his hat, coat, shirt, and shoes.

"You can't swim here, mister," said a scandalized club bellboy. "I have just been appointed an admiral," White explained with some hauteur. "It is my duty to save the Luson. I am going to swim out to intercept an important wireless message. The Japs are getting busy."

White was sent to Central station in charge of a policeman. "I am the highest paid secret service man in the world," he confided to the desk sergeant. "I was a brigadier, but Secretary Daniels has just made me an admiral. For seven days I was held prisoner in a wall by the Japs but escaped. They are planning to seize the Luson."

He wrote busily in his cell and passed out this message, which he ordered sent to Secretary Daniels: "Wire me my rank and destination in the navy at once."

White had been at the Congress hotel since Saturday. He said he was part owner of the Victor Storage Battery company of Rock Island, one of the country. He will be examined as to his sanity today.

An indie in the West Indies—New York: "Thy Name is Delirium"—An Observation Train—Atlantic City—The Bathing Beach—A Broker's Office in Atlantic City—Chicago—The Detective Bureau.

STORY.
Unable, by reason of the war in Europe, to make his customary continental business trip, William Kerkoff, a wealthy merchant, decides to go to New York instead. He goes. There he learns of the gay times possible in Atlantic City by the sea. He decides to go. He goes. Kerkoff appears on back of observation train en route to Atlantic City. Stranger takes adjoining seat; they talk; exchange cards. Stranger's card reads: Percival Stack.
Stack casually remarks about a "killing" he made recently in X-Ray Steel. A third man joins them. Stack introduces him to Kerkoff as Arthur Cameron. Cameron admits he also made a killing on X-Ray Steel. Kerkoff ventures he'd like to assassinate some of that stuff himself.

The Broker's Office. They get to Atlantic City. Stack guides them to the broker's office. Blackboard, covered with stock market symbols; youth collars off figures; dignified elderly man, half-dressed with gray, buying stock; other men dealing. Sign on door "Blair Brothers."

They each venture $1,000 on X-Ray Steel; depart. They return later after market has closed; each man collects $1,000. Fine.

The next day Stack tells Kerkoff he is going to make up a pool of $71,000 on Cameron. He advises Kerkoff to take a similar block. Kerkoff is game, but his peddle is cooling. He finally agrees to take a mere $30,000 worth. Stack tenders his check for $1,000. They refuse to take it. Stack, Cameron, and Kerkoff go to an office. The $71,000 check is cashed. Kerkoff takes his check at a bank.

They return, place the money, get receipts. Deciding to celebrate, they go to the beach and watch the bathing girls refuse to bathe because it would spoil their costumes.
X-Ray Goes Up.
Clock strikes 2 o'clock. Closing time—Stack judges his companions, they go to broker's office, look at board. X-Ray Steel has gone up. All register joy. They go to cashier's window; present slips, ask for money. Cashier looks at slip, shakes head. Flash close of receipt. It doesn't call for X-Ray Steel at all. It calls for some other steel. They look at the board. "Some other steel" has dropped nine points. O! Stack is indignant. He promises them there will be a reckoning. He makes an appointment to meet Kerkoff and Cameron on the board walk the following day. The following day Kerkoff keeps the appointment. Stack doesn't. Neither does Cameron.

Shift to Chicago.
Kerkoff, minus $30,000, makes inquiries, is about to take the matter up with the local police; receives a wire from Stack from Chicago. "The wire reads: 'Come to Chicago—all is alright.' Kerkoff hops the next train, comes to Chicago. He goes to the rendezvous. Stack is not there.
Kerkoff goes to Detective Chief Mooney. With tears in his eyes he relates his story. Chief of Detectives Mooney shakes his head, calls in Detective Sergeant Henkle and Cahill. They register determination. Exit.

ARREST GREEK OFFICERS WHO FOUGHT FRENCH

LONDON, June 17.—The arrest of Col. Grivas and other Greek officers concerned in the fight with the French cavalry patrol which occupied the Greek town of Larissa is reported in a Reuter dispatch from Saloniki. The troops of the Greek garrison who attempted to escape have been made prisoners.

Constantine at Messina. ROME, via Paris, June 17.—A dispatch to the Giornale d'Italia says former King Constantine of Greece arrived at Messina, Sicily, this morning. He is expected to leave soon for Switzerland.
Riot to Venizelos. PARIS, June 17.—Premier Ribot has sent the following message to Eleutherios Venizelos, former premier and head of the provisional government at Saloniki: "In continuing to France the mission to take in their name measures to facilitate the return by the Greek people to the unity they helped to found, the protecting powers desired to show that the principles that inspired them a century ago, when the heroes of the war of independence spilled their blood to assure Greece a place among the free nations, have remained unaltered through the vicissitudes of history.
"Nothing could better respond to the deepest sentiments of the French people than to be so intimately associated with the great national movement which will be pursued with the support of the protecting powers by those who in the difficult hours never doubted them and were able to prepare for the triumph of free institutions."

FRENCH VESSEL, 6,677 TONS, SUNK; 1 OF CREW LOST

New York, June 17.—News of the destruction of the big French freight steamer Mississippi by a German submarine, with a loss of one of the merchantman's crew, was brought here today by officers of a British freight vessel.

The Mississippi (6,677 tons) was torpedoed and sunk about 145 miles out from the port of Brest, France, on June 2, according to officers of the British ship which rescued forty-seven officers and seamen from open boats. They had been afloat only a short time.
TWO FRENCH SHIPS ATTACKED. PARIS, June 17.—Two French steamers arriving at Gibraltar, one from the Mediterranean and the other from the Atlantic, report that they were attacked in sight of the Spanish coast and outside the zone blockade declared by Germany by submarines of the largest type, says an official statement issued today. Both vessels successfully evaded the submarines and obliged them to abandon the combat.
GERMAN SHIP TORPEDOED, NOT MINED. AMSTERDAM, via London, June 17.—According to the Telegraf, the German steamship Turin, which was reported to have struck a mine off the Dutch coast while bound for Amsterdam from Sweden, in reality was torpedoed by a submarine. It remained afloat.
Dr. Brum After Presidency. MONTEVIDEO, June 17.—The foreign minister, Dr. Brum, announced his candidacy for the presidency last night. The diplomatic corps gave a dinner to Dr. Brum.

ISSUE PLEA FOR DR. ADLER'S LIFE

LONDON, June 17.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Copenhagen quotes the Social Demokraten as declaring that the Austrian Court of Justice has requested the Supreme court to commute the death sentence of Dr. Friedrich Adler, the assassin of Count Karl Seurgkh, the Austrian premier, to a term of imprisonment, and that there is no doubt the plea will be granted.

An International Collection of Straw Hats

Italy is a pastmaster of the art of making certain types of Straw Hats like the world-famous Cinelli. China, Japan, Korea and the Philippines produce marvelous braids. England outdoes the world in incomparable "beaters and yacht" shapes. South America is to Panamas what Cuba is to tobacco, or South Africa is to diamonds.

We are showing today and every day next week this international collection of Knox Straw Hats from the four corners of the earth, together with our own special brands produced in the United States to our private style specifications.

PARTY AT INN; 4 CARS PILE UP; 3 PERSONS HURT

Autos Demolished After Niles Road Speeder Brings Crash.

A gay party at Wayside Inn at Niles, a race along the road back toward Chicago, a crash—and the toll: Four wrecked automobiles, One man perhaps fatally injured, Two men seriously hurt, Two women shaken up, Eight narrow escapes, Ten hours' police work to piece the story together.

Roy Wilson, son of Charles Wilson of 5843 Walton place; Martin H. Schroeder of 3913 Augusta street, and Frank Michule of 2700 West Twenty-third street are the injured men. Wilson is in St. Joseph's hospital with severe cuts and possible internal injuries. Schroeder is in the Ravenswood hospital with a fractured skull and may die. Michule is at home with a broken arm.

Two Women Escaped. L. B. Vaughn and John Hopkins, members of the University club, with two unidentified women who were their companions, escaped with a severe shaking, though their machine was overturned and wrecked.

Otto Michalek of 1823 South Ashland avenue, Joseph Sorota of 2822 South Avera avenue, Frank Lavecka of 1623 West Twenty-third place, Louis Hurdil of 1834 South Ashland avenue, and J. Haviland of 1724 South Racine avenue also escaped serious injury.

Frank Lampke, chauffeur for the University motor livery, 920 North State street, drove the car in which Vaughn and Hopkins, with their women companions, were riding, returning from the Wayside Inn.

How Accident Happened. Half a mile north of Niles Wilson, driving his father's machine, and with Schroeder as a passenger, attempted to pass the Lampke car. Wilson either did not see two smaller and lighter cars, driven by Michule and Michalek, or believed that he would not hit them. He miscalculated and crashed head on into Michule's machine.

Lampke's car, close behind, skidded into Wilson's motor, and the Michalek automobile, behind Michule, followed on into the mixup.

Wilson and Schroeder were thrown clear of the wreckage, but Schroeder struck a telephone pole. He fell back into a ditch and was not found for nearly half an hour. The Lampke car ditched completely over, rolled into the ditch on the opposite side of the road, and slewed entirely around.

The lighter automobiles of Michalek and Michule were demolished.

Rushed to Hospitals. Passing motorists picked up the injured men and started toward town with them. Schroeder was taken to the Ravenswood hospital and rushed to the operating room. Three doctors were afraid to operate through fear that the shock might kill him.

Wilson was taken to St. Joseph's hospital. The other members of the party went to their homes. Wilson was put under surveillance.

FIGHT TO KEEP RAIL FARE DOWN BEGINS TODAY

Roads Will Be Served with Summonses, Is Plan.

Attorney General Brundage will begin proceedings in Chicago today in the biggest case yet instituted to test the power of the interstate commerce commission. It is probable there will be every railroad entering Chicago. The attorney general is acting in obedience to the resolution passed by the legislature Saturday night which declares the railroads are doing business in Illinois in violation of the laws of the state. The Illinois public utilities commission has held that 2.4 cents per mile is an excessive passenger fare. The interstate commerce commission, however, ruled that the rate is reasonable. Federal Judge Dyer ordered the railroads to follow the interstate commission. The state is fighting the higher rate on the ground that the interstate commission is exceeding its authority.

Plans of Action. "It is probable," said Mr. Wilkerson last night, "that the railroad officials will be served tomorrow with notice to appear before Judge Foell for contempt of court as a result of violation of the injunction he issued."

Another plan that might be followed would involve the arrest of representatives of each railroad, with prosecution for each ticket sold in Illinois at more than a 2 cent rate. The fine provided in such cases is not less than $10 and not more than $100. Prosecutions of this type would, in the natural course of legal practice, be placed in the hands of state attorneys.

Another feature involved is the violation of a ruling of the state public utilities commission, which held the 2.4 cent passenger fare excessive. Individuals responsible for such violations are liable to imprisonment for not more than one year.

The Railroads' Case. E. P. Ripley, president of the Santa Fe, is ready to fight the state legal force over the issue involved.

"I think we will obey the United States," he said. "The whole is greater than a part. We shall obey the whole."

C. H. Markham, president of the Illinois Central, said that on account of the complicated legal questions involved he did not wish to give an opinion offhand.

"The matter appears to be resolving itself into legal questions involving the rights of the state, as opposed to the United States government," he said.

"Until the matter has been gone over carefully I can say little."

Britain and Germany Put Prisoners in Safety Zone

VIENNA, via London, June 17.—The following official communication was issued today: "As the British government has complied with the German demand and declared the withdrawal of all German prisoners of war to thirty kilometers behind the front, the German army organizations have had all the British prisoners of war withdrawn to at least thirty kilometers behind the front."

WAR STUDENTS START NEW DRILL SYSTEM TODAY

Assignments to Artillery,
Infantry, and Cavalry
Are Completed.

Fort Sheridan, Ill., June 17.—[Special.]—Beginning tomorrow, all of the men at Fort Sheridan who have been assigned to the infantry, cavalry, and artillery branches of service will be given intensive training in their respective units. Assignments were made tonight and already many of the men are wearing the colored hat cords of their new standing.

Men who have selected aviation will probably be sent away before the end of the week for the rest of their training. Problems of the march and attack and defense will probably be taken up this week. It is planned to carry out war maneuvers on a large scale, with the camp divided into two armies.

First Extensive Maneuvers.
These will be the first extensive maneuvers undertaken, and probably will involve the use of artillery and machine guns. The field of battle may extend over the estates of Lake Forest aristocracy, and the battle probably will last for several days.

Orders assigning the candidates for artillery training to the camp at Sparta, Wis., have been temporarily held up. The rudimentary principles of big gun firing will go on here until the red tape holding up the departure of the men can be unraveled. There was the usual Sunday crowd in evidence at the camp today, the usual ball games, and a surprising number of couples helping each other up and down the bluff at the lake.

Target Practice to Start.
The two hundred and forty grain cartridges that have been expected for rifle practice will reach the fort some time this week, and range firing will begin. The targets have been overhauled and repainted and the ranges graded.

Barber Separated from His Wife Ends His Life

Bernard Cottank, 40 years old, 603 North Cicero avenue, a barber, while brooding over his separation from his wife, committed suicide while in the home of Michael Asher, 2726 Crystal street, by taking poison last night.

Luxemburg Miners on Strike.
PARIS, June 17.—Reports are published in the newspapers today that the miners of the duchy of Luxemburg have gone on strike because the Germans have refused to increase their pay. The Luxemburg government has intervened, but in vain.

Why Americans Must Hasten to Assistance of Entente

BY COL. HENRY J. REILLY.
TWENTY-NINTH ARTICLE.

Washington, D. C., June 17.—[Special.]—In the preceding article the probable reasons were given for the German withdrawal from their old line in western France to a new one running roughly from Arras, around the Massif of St. Omer to a point east of Soissons. The day before it was pointed out that while at first the enemy offered no resistance, as time went on and his retirement continued, he became more and more determined, with the result that what had been minor rear guard actions developed into more or less general engagements.

This necessitated our allies bringing up all their heavy guns before attempting to advance further.

In the north the British decided to attack the Vimy ridge, which the enemy had held since October, 1914. After careful artillery preparation a general attack was made with the result that the whole ridge was captured.

Front Is Not Broken.
However, all this fighting finally petered out, with the enemy troops to their front still unbroken and refusing to retreat further. During the latter part of this fighting the French attacked along the line Soissons-Reims.

A successful advance in this region would not only have turned the flank of the German new line, but also would have broken in two their whole line in France, thus compelling their withdrawal, probably to the frontier, if not further. However, after several days of local gains the attack came to an end.

Like the British offensive in the north, while a considerable number of prisoners and guns were captured, the enemy force in this sector remained intact.

The British losses in these affairs are said to have been close to 400,000. The French losses are not known, but are said to have been considerable.

Italians Gain Little.
The last of May the Italians started an offensive in the Isonzo region. At the first they made considerable local gains and captured a number of prisoners and guns. The Austro-Hungarians counter attacked and regained most of the lost ground, while taking a considerable number of prisoners and guns.

In the meanwhile the Russian autocracy, which was apparently on the verge of making a separate peace with the enemy, was overthrown. However, it is to be doubted if matters are much better from the point of view of defeating the central powers, as the majority of the Russian army seems more interested in home affairs than in the prosecution of the war.

It has already been admitted by dispatches from Petrograd that the Germans feel so little fear with respect to this front as to already have transferred 600,000 troops to the western front.

Germans Ready to Strike?
Within the last week the British have had a considerable local success between Tyres and Armentieres, which straightened out the salient which existed in that part of their line. However, while a considerable number of prisoners and guns were taken no general result was produced because the enemy lines still remain unbroken.

Recently there have been a number of small local enemy attacks on the French in the Champagne region. These may or may not be the precursors of an enemy offensive. They do show, however, that he is still far from being absolutely on the defensive.

Thus at the point at which our entry on Europe's battlefields is signaled by the arrival of Gen. Pershing, we find our enemies' armies have successfully resisted the latest attempts of our allies to defeat them and thus remain unbroken facing all on us.

Why Haste Is Needed.
Will the enemy rest on the defensive until we can bring over the large, properly equipped and trained army which it is necessary for us to put in France? If another real attempt is to be made to decisively defeat him, or is he strong enough and willing to make another general attack, such as Verdun in 1916, with the object of driving through and settling matters in his favor before we can do anything of material value?

If he is strong enough and has any intention of attacking every day's delay, every day's inefficiency on our part in getting ready means increasing his chances of success. The question consequently of most importance is, are we planning to do our share on a sufficiently large scale and are we accomplishing what we have planned with efficiency and speed?

MARINE OFFICER. PREPARES TO GO

Major William Brackett of the Marine corps spent yesterday at his office straightening up his affairs preparatory for his departure for Port Royal, S. C. The major was disappointed over his failure to get 500 recruits in marine week. He asserted he had received plenty of applications, but the applicants were unable to pass the rigid examination.

The engineers in camp on the municipal pier were given the day to themselves.

Navy Opens Chicago
Office for Inventions

Inventions and suggestions for destroying U-boats and protecting ships have been coming in from the west so rapidly that the naval consulting board has established a branch office at 120 West Adams street, Chicago. Inventors living west of Pittsburgh have been requested to send models, designs, or suggestions they wish to submit to the naval department to the Chicago branch office, which is in charge of a committee composed of F. K. Copeland, chairman; Capt. Robert W. Hand, William Hoskins, and Blon J. Arnold, a member of the naval consulting board.

CHICAGO LABOR BALKS SEATTLE SLACKERS' PLAN

If organized labor in Seattle, Wash., pursues a policy of supporting "conscientious objectors" in their claim of exemption from military service and in fighting conscription generally it will get no help in that respect from organized labor in Chicago.

By a large majority delegates of the Chicago Federation of Labor yesterday refused to concur in a resolution passed by the Central Labor council of Seattle demanding that the government exempt from military service "all those who have conscientious objections to the war." The demand, apparently for the purpose of assuring its passage, was coupled with a protest against proposed importation of cattle labor during the war—a project which is being fought unanimously by organized labor bodies throughout the country.

The local labor delegates gave short shrift to the resolution. It was at first ordered referred to the federation's executive committee, but a shout that it be laid on the table resulted in that action being taken. This amounted to killing the measure.

LOTS OF FOOD FOR ALL BUT STOMACH IN KAISERLAND

Girl, Back from 3 Years of Slim Diet, Finds Cafes Here Great.

The German empire has food for cannon, food for munitions factories, food for thought. But plain, ordinary grub—that's a different thing. So says Miss Alta L. Carter of El Dorado, Kas., who has just returned from Berlin. She stopped in Chicago yesterday.

"Aren't your restaurants wonderful?" she said. "I was in Berlin in 1914, and shortly after the Lepelke Conservatory of Music, then told of conditions in Germany. 'In Berlin today there is no food without a schain, or magistrate's card,' he said. 'With your schain you establish relations at one store. You register there and cannot patronize any other one.'

Slim Diet.
"When I left Berlin the allowances were: Butter, one-eighth pound per week; sugar, one-half pound each fifteen days; one egg a month; potatoes, three pounds a week; tea (made from leaves of Linden tree), one one-eighth pound package a week; no coffee except a ghastly substitute known as 'arzeru'; two pounds of bread per week. 'I had to pay 30 pfennigs (45 cents) for a half pound pork chop, 8 marks ($2) for a pound of butter—two month's supply; 20 pfennigs (45 cents) each for three eggs—three month's supply.

Few Clothes, Too.
"There are the same strict regulations in clothes. One is permitted two pairs of stockings each six months, three handkerchiefs each six months, one pair of shoes a year. No one is permitted to buy clothing, even with a schain, unless one turns in the old outfit.

"Taxicabs are permitted only to and from railroad stations. Pleasure travel is restricted. 'On the other hand, the theaters run till blast. You may spend your money there. It does not cut into the national resources, and it helps elevate the morale.'

War Drill by Mail, New Plan of Navy League

Military instruction by the correspondence school is with us. Dr. E. L. Lohd, regent of the reserve of the Navy League, and Dr. Julia Strawn have prepared military courses by mail for their sisters over the land.

These instructions are intended to coordinate the work at the various medical camps. There will be lessons on poison gases and demonstrations of liquid fire; there will be lessons on war psychology and shell shock, etc.

But coincident with this theoretical instruction the women will be urged to visualize camps, and fields, and hospitals, and study their military textbooks well.

IMMODEST

Police Subdue Amusement Park Device Which Blew Women's Skirts.

In one of the north side amusement parks there is a concession where the barker's spiel runs something like this: "It's the 'Bughouse,' boys, the 'Bughouse.' It's the place where lights are dimmer than the down-turned gas in the parlor. It's the place where the lanes wind round and round. It's the place for that cozy chat with Mollie. It beats the top of the auto bus through the park, and it only costs a dime. Don't crowd and don't let the girls blush. Buy your tickets at the little pink window and watch your change."

First Deputy Police Westbrook happened to hear the barker one night last week. "Himm-mmm-mmm-nm," he said. He bought a ticket. Inside it was all that the barker said. The first deputy followed along, getting an eye full. In time there came a bridge. It wasn't over water, but it was a bridge and a tremendous draft seemed to come from "the water ought to be. The first deputy found that some score or more of young men waited on the far side of the bridge, just to watch. "Himm-mmm-mmm-nm," said the first deputy. He picked out a place and watched, too.

A fair young thing in white pumps and a shiny green gown started across the bridge. The draft got her. "Whee-ee," muttered one young man. "Eee-ee," shrieked the young woman. "Grown," said the first deputy, and he started for the office of the management.

WHAT'S LOSS OF $1,500 IN GEMS TO 'HONEY BOY'?

That a bold, bad burglar entered her apartment and stole $1,500 worth of diamonds and a valuable set of furs is a mere trifle to Mrs. Harriet Dudley, compared with the fact that he stole her Honey Boy.

Ever since the heartless deed was committed a week ago, Mrs. Dudley, who lives at 4221 Calumet avenue, has not been able to sleep of nights, through worrying over her Honey Boy.

Honey Boy is a Pekinese spaniel, or poodle, and Mrs. Dudley not only raised him from a pup but paid $150 for the privilege.

"You see," she wailed, "I'm a widow and I loved that dog like a baby. He was the whole world to me and I'm almost crazy over his disappearance. O, he was the sweetest, brightest, cutest, smartest, dearest little dog that ever was, and he loved me like a mother. Why, you see, I'm hard of hearing, and every time the telephone would ring he would come and tug at my skirt and then run to the telephone. O, I'm so unhappy. Won't you please put something in the paper and say that I'll pay a big reward for his return and no questions asked?"

"I'll mind the loss of the diamond earrings and dinner rings and finger ring and furs, but O, I do so miss Honey Boy."

SOCIALISTS, AT OUTING, DELIVER ANTI-WAR TALKS

Rodriguez, Kennedy, and Others Take Stand for Peace.

Several thousand Chicago Socialists, led by Ald. William E. Rodriguez and John C. Kennedy, foregathered in Riverview park yesterday to protest against the United States entering the European war.

The occasion was the annual picnic under the auspices of the Cook County Socialist committee, the proceeds of which are to be turned over to the support of Socialist newspapers. Besides Rodriguez and Kennedy, speeches were made in the English language by Seymour Stedman and R. H. Howe. Speeches also were made in Swedish, Hungarian, Slav, Yiddish, Russian, and Polish, and the Swedish Choral society sang a number of songs.

Watched, but Not Arrested.
A number of federal operatives and local detectives mingled with the throngs, but no arrests were made. Ald. Rodriguez, as did the other speakers, declared this to be a "capitalist war" and insisted that the working people be opposed to it.

All the speakers rejoiced over the Stockholm conference of Socialists and regretted the action of the United States government in refusing passports to certain Socialists in this country. "I am satisfied," said Rodriguez, "that a majority of the people of the United States are opposed to this war. They want peace."

He said, regarding the conscription of large fortunes, that the income tax was all right so far as it went. "But what I would do," he added, "would be to conscript the entire incomes of the capitalists over $100,000."

Would Organize U. S.
Mr. Rodriguez pleaded for an extension of the Socialistic propaganda and organization in this country. "We should organize in this country," he said, "so that we can help to stop the war and then be in a position after the war to make such arrangements as will preclude the possibility of another war. It's up to the Socialists to see that this is done."

LADY CLIVE SAYS THIS TOWN IS A BEASTLY PLACE
Lady Gordon Clive of England, who was fined $10 Saturday for failure to pay a tax bill, said yesterday at the Grant hotel that she would sue the Yellow Cab company for damages.

"Chicago is a beastly place," said Lady Clive. "Mayor Thompson is impossible. How utterly senseless in him to close all public houses on Sunday. Your aldermen also are distinctly bourgeois. It seems perfectly absurd for such crude persons to attempt to make laws for so large a city."

WHY THE U-BOAT WON.

The sinking of the Moren may well arouse the country from any placid assumption that the navy department is being efficiently managed. If this were an isolated case we might charge it up to the fortunes of war, but it has all the appearance of being the climax of a series of like "unfortunate accidents." They were accidents because of the failure to provide against them. We are probably lucky that nothing worse has happened.

Consider the facts. The Moren was not sunk by a torpedo; it was sunk by gunfire. The battle occurred in the open and the U-boat was visible to the Moren's gunners. The advantage of firing from a tankboat instead of a submarine is enormous. The ship's gunners operate from a stable, protected gun platform, while the submarine crew has to stand on a little wobbly shell that is continually washed by the waves.

The mental hazard, too, is all in favor of the tanker's gunners. They know that if the boat is destroyed the chances are good they will be rescued. All but four of the Moren's crew escaped. But if a shell hits a submarine she explodes and sinks and there is no hope for the crew.

Yet with all these advantages the Moren's gunners were apparently outclassed. They fired 150 shots without touching the submersible. Meanwhile the U-boat crew put the tanker out of commission.

The Moren was defeated, whether because of inferior marksmanship or because of inferior equipment. Recent testimony before the senate naval committee throws some light on the real trouble. G. T. Vohan, gunner's mate, told of an encounter with a submarine in which the freight ship Virginia fired sixteen shots. The closest shot missed by 1,000 yards, though the target was less than 5,000 yards away.

"My telescope was an old fashioned one and I couldn't observe very well," said Vohan. "The guns we used had no range finders on them."

We suspect the Moren was provided with the same sort of inadequate equipment. But poor telescopes and the absence of range finders may not tell the whole story. The welfare and training of the men are just as important as good equipment. We hate to think the navy department has neglected these paramount factors, but there is evidence of just this kind of neglect.

Only the other day Senator Martin, a strong administration supporter, made some remarkable disclosures in the course of an urgent plea for the purchase of the Hampton roads naval site. He quoted the surgeon general of the navy as saying "the sanitary condition of the men—the personnel of the navy—was in a horrible condition; that men were dying who had diseases that were curable and who ought not to die, and that he had been unable to save their lives because he lacked facilities to care for them."

We believe our gunners will match up with any in the world if they are given half a chance. We fear they aren't given half a chance. We fear the same condition will prevail as long as Joseph Daniels remains as secretary of the navy. Whatever the facts may be in any particular case, the ultimate responsibility for "unfortunate accidents" rests with him. He cannot shift the blame for inadequate equipment and insanitary conditions, because he refused to ask for essential appropriations which would have put the navy in condition to fight.

DON'T SUBSIDIZE THE PRESS.

The proposal of the federal trade commission to have the government take over all newspaper and paper products and issue them to the newspapers at a price fixed by the government is fraught with great danger to our liberties. If such an authority is created it will have the power, first, to fix the price of paper, and second, to allot specific quantities to different newspapers. This will create in the first place government subsidy of newspapers, and in the second place will afford an opportunity for pernicious censorship, more vicious in that it is indirect. It would be a terrible thing for the newspapers, which have just fought and defeated a censorship which was sought to be imposed upon them, to sell themselves to a governmental commission for cheap paper and for favoritism in allotment.

The war will surely try our institutions to the utmost and if we are to begin the war by a subsidy of the press the future of free government will become precarious indeed.

THE DIRTY DOUGH BOY.

The real man of war is the infantryman, the dirty dough boy carrying his sixty pound pack and his razor edge bayonet. He is the boy who does the work and takes it at its hardest, dirtiest, and cruelest. He does not get the glamour; he gets the punishment.

The aviator soars to two hours of danger in the sweep and dash of the most chivalrous, romanticized effort of war and descends to ten of admiration, to lunch, and pretty women—or in a crumpled machine to a wreath of immortelles.

The cavalryman may swagger through popular applause. The artilleryman does his work pounding infantrymen—back of the trenches. When his guns are looted he gets a pounding himself. There are heavy gun batteries in Germany which it was said recently, have not lost a man. The gunner has a better chance than the dough boy, and no one pays any attention to the dough boy.

He does not get the roses. He gets the mud. He wades in water to his waist. He sits in dugouts and takes artillery fire until the enemy concludes that he has been blown into fragments and he takes it with comrades scattered in bits all about him, waiting until the infantry on the other side come across at him with bombs and bayonets.

He waits until his own artillery has ripped, shaken, and torn the trench across the way and then he goes over the top, across No Man's land, swept by machine gun fire, and to hand grips with an enemy keen to bayonet him and exterminate him in a nasty, personal way. He falls into shell holes and drags himself through filth. He is plagued by rats and vermin. His food supply is cut off and he starves. He is the boy who does the work, and the smiles and flowers go elsewhere. He is the hero of war, the tough, dirty, unconscious hero of war, and if any one paid any attention to him he'd drop dead.

MEN, MONEY, AND MACHINERY.

The facts seem to justify the government's optimism, in part at least, regarding the subscription to the Liberty loan. There may be a tendency to overestimate the part the people themselves took in it, but the part was considerable and large enough to be gratifying.

The loan was over-subscribed would not have had so much significance if the subscriptions were not so numerous. The big financial institutions and if popular will had not been expressed. As it is, the over-subscription is impressive enough to give our allies encouragement and to convince Germany that the United States means business.

We are far from feeling that the people do not need more arousing. The loan was not so conspicuously popular as to betray sound opinion into that error. It had the advantage of the greatest advertising campaign ever given a government effort, and efforts must continue in all respects demanded by war activities. There is still some reluctance and some skepticism in the country. Both must be eradicated, and they cannot be eradicated by glossing over the facts. The truth will be the most powerful stimulant the people can be given. They must be made to see the emergency close at home. Then they will rise.

Nevertheless, through the government directed efforts, the big financial institutions have made the loan a success. The government has the money. By virtue of a congressional act it can get the men. They are not volunteering in sufficient numbers, but they will be taken in sufficient numbers.

We have the money and we have the men. What is necessary now is the machinery. As we have said, and likely shall have to say many more times, this government was not organized for war and probably will be found lacking for war purposes.

Having taken the money and being about to take the men, the government should provide itself with the proper machinery. It cannot be too strongly urged as a war measure that the government be reorganized for war purposes, upon nonpartisan basis, without regard for personality and with regard only for fitness.

We have the money. We have the men. Now let's get the machinery. Then we can win the war.

THE LEGISLATURE.

When the legislature gave the state a chance to obtain a new constitution it did the biggest thing it could to assure for itself a favorable verdict at its close upon the general character of its work. That was a big thing, and it made it possible for opinion to deal leniently with failures in legislation.

We regret that the assembly did not give Chicago the enabling legislation which might have made possible a reorganization of street car service and have given the people what they need in transportation. So far as Chicago was concerned that was the biggest legislative failure, and we fear it leaves the city in a helpless position for two years at least.

The assembly acquired merit by passing the private bank bill and the loan shark bill, lost some by refusing to permit the sanitary district to use the water power which is going to waste below Lockport, etc., etc., a record probably above the average assembly record, but having the general mixture of good and bad they all have.

We believe Speaker Shanahan may be complimented for his fairness in most respects and Gov. Lowden upon his success in getting the administration program adopted. The reorganization of state government along the lines recommended by the governor and accepted by the assembly ought to produce a more efficient and economical state service than has yet been given.

The constructive record of the administration and legislature in this respect is good, and if many good bills failed of passage the fact will have to be accepted with patience. It is the legislative way and it will be a long time before an assembly meets which will do every wise thing it is urged to do.

Editorial of the Day

IS WELLS A ROUSSEAU?

[From the Minneapolis Journal.]

Is H. G. Wells the Rousseau of this stormy time? Before the war he was a novelist with sociological intention, or a sociologist who made the novel his vehicle. Since the war began he has been spiritual interpreter of its wonders and horrors, and is becoming more definitely the prophet of its material consequences, and the priest of such faith as it fashions or permits.

Mr. Wells' merit has been his freedom from tradition and his disregard of the conventional view. He has looked ahead always, and his nimble imagination has responded to every new movement and fresh conception. In an age that changes more swiftly and fundamentally than any period has ever done, he is conspicuously the literary talent most sensitive to the cardinal characteristics, whereas his brethren have been turning to the past, as have those of the Irish school, or they have not synchronized, as it were, with the scientific performance.

He has been marvelously acute and ingenious, and sometimes truly original. The intuition of his brain is at times astonishing, and his best insight is more penetrating than Shaw's. Moreover, he has had something like a constructive program, which it may be suspected Shaw scarcely has. But as a literary man, as a stylist, as a dramatic presenter, as a consistent advocate of any sort of a system, Mr. Wells has lacked.

Rousseau was a consummate stylist, and if his social philosophy is fallacious, his argument in its favor is masterly. Rousseau was truly original; he spoke a new gospel that won converts of every class and of every country. Beside him Mr. Wells is simply clever, the cleverest man in all England, and an echo, a gather-up of the opinion of the day, an apologist for the present, an interpreter of the hour.

Locky's distinction between voices and echoes in literature comes to mind. Rousseau was a voice that has evoked multitudinous echoes, reverberating still. Even was a voice and Shaw is his English echo. Wells is an echo, compounded of more than one voice. He is very servicable, much needed, and admirably fulfills his function.

TUBERCULOSIS THRIVES ON WAR.

THE information which comes from abroad is that the war is doing much to increase the prevalence of tuberculosis. In Belgium the tuberculosis death rate is nearly double that before the war. Dr. Biggs reports that in France there are 450,000 soldiers incapacitated by wounds and a like number incapacitated by tuberculosis. Based upon Dr. Biggs' report the international health commission has recently sent Dr. Livingston Farrand to France to help out the situation.

Based upon experiences in previous wars we can safely predict that our troops in this war will be incapacitated from disease more than from bullets, in spite of the improvement in methods of disease prevention. It will also be safe to predict that tuberculosis will increase among soldiers, sailors, and civilians. Just the amount of increase will depend upon the effort that is made to hold it in check.

Dr. George T. Palmer, president of the Illinois Tuberculosis society, proposes the following program as one that is necessary if we are to escape the increased consumption that the European combatants have felt and are feeling:

1. There must be full appreciation of the importance of tuberculosis in war and the military and civil authorities, all tuberculosis organizations, and by the people generally.

2. The immediate development of anti-tuberculosis machinery with dispensaries, visiting nurses, hospitals, sanatoria, and other facilities for the treatment of tuberculosis in every county in the state.

3. Improvement in methods of examining recruits at times of enlistment and of all soldiers. Not only must the examination of recruits be done more skillfully and more carefully, but the medical officers of commands must be more alert in recognizing early consumption in non-complaining soldiers and sailors.

4. The elimination by every possible means of tuberculosis persons from among those who will be subjected to the strain of military life. The recruiting officers, health departments, and tuberculosis societies must be accomplished. Tuberculosis surveys of communities will gather a lot of information about tuberculosis individuals.

5. Establishment of tuberculosis hospitals, however, been somewhat dimmed by his indifference, under Tautou guidance, to certain of the prison camps in Germany, where all unpleasant things were carefully kept from his observation, and his subsequent defense in the English press of the methods of the Germans of treating their captives.

The late Lord Abinger spent most of his diplomatic career at Stockholm, a portion of the time on the staff there of Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, now British ambassador at Washington, and while in Sweden met and won his wife, widow of the late King Oscar's chamberlain, Carl de Geyer, and daughter of that Sir William White who died as British ambassador to the sublime port, with the reputation of having been the strongest British envoy there since the days of the great Elchoe, namely, Lord Stratford de Redclyffe.

The mother of the late Lord Abinger and also of the new peer was the niece and adopted daughter of Sir Percy and Lady Shelley, the son and daughter-in-law of the poet Shelley, and it is from her that the late lord inherited much of his extensive property around Bourne-mouth, which on his wife's death or remarriage will go to his brother and successors, the latter also inheriting all sorts of relics of the ill-fated and gifted poet.

The fortunes of Lord Abinger's family were founded by Robert Scarlett, a Jamaica planter, who acquired great wealth in the West Indies. His son James was a celebrated lawyer who was raised to the peerage as Lord Abinger in 1838 in his sixties, to the bench as chief justice of the Exchequer.

A grandchild of the new peer was Gen. Sir James Scarlett, leader of the charge of the heavy brigade at Balaklava, a feat extolled by Tennyson in the following lines:

"Rode like victors and lords

Through the forest of lances and swords

Into the heart of the Russian hordes."

The verses in question constitute a pendant to Tennyson's still more famous poem about "The Charge of the Light Brigade."

The third lord, also a well known general of the British army, was a descendant of the poet Shelley, and it is from her that the late lord inherited much of his extensive property around Bourne-mouth, which on his wife's death or remarriage will go to his brother and successors, the latter also inheriting all sorts of relics of the ill-fated and gifted poet.

No name is more widely known and honored in Cornwall than that of Vyvyan, and therefore the death of old Sir Vyvyan Vyvyan at the great age of 90 and his succession by his eldest son, Col. Sir Vyvyan Vyvyan, is a family event of interest throughout the south-west of England. The entailed estates to which Sir Vyvyan succeeds include Trowan at St. Columb, which has been in uninterrupted possession of the Vyvyan family for 800 years, and Trelowarren for 600 years, both of them wonderful old places.

The names of Vyvyan has all the glamour of Arthurian legend. When Lyonesse was submerged, a Vyvyan, according to family tradition, escaped by the strength of his horse, which swam to the mainland and came ashore with him at Perran Uthnoe.

Ralph Vyvyan flourished in the reign of King Henry. His son, Sir Vyvyan Vyvyan, married the daughter of Christopher, Earl of Kildare, in the reign of King Henry. Sir Vyvyan Vyvyan, sixth in descent from the Sir Vyvyan mentioned, married Honor, heiress of Richard Ferrers, while Henry VI. was on the throne.

Sir Richard Vyvyan, the first holder of the baronetcy, was one of the most devoted adherents of King Charles I. in the war of the rebellion and his master of the mint at Exeter. Sir Richard Vyvyan was implicated, along with the Duke of Ormonde and others, in the attempt to bring James II.'s son, known as the Old Pretender, to the throne in 1715, but was arrested at Trelowarren and conveyed to the Tower of London, where he remained incarcerated until the accession of Good Queen Anne to the throne.

I may add that Trelowarren was part of the private possessions of King Harold prior to the Norman conquest, and as the main portion of the mansion still stands was built by Sir John Vyvyan in the reign of Henry VI. on the site and foundations of two much earlier structures.

MILLION A DAY FOR SEVEN DAYS RED CROSS GOAL

Plans Perfected to Raise
Chicago's $8,000,000
This Week.

Beginning tomorrow morning the people of Chicago will be asked to contribute $1,000,000 a day for seven days. With the $1,000,000 already contributed, this will complete Chicago's $8,000,000 share of the $100,000,000 Red Cross war fund now being raised throughout the country.

This afternoon at 5 o'clock the 210 members of the twenty-one primary teams will meet in the Rookwood room at the La Salle hotel for final instructions after which a dinner will be given. They will be addressed by Edgar A. Bremer, Bright and early tomorrow morning they will begin their personal solicitations. About 7,000 names of those to be called upon first will be distributed among the teams. Beginning tomorrow noon reports will be made daily at luncheon at the La Salle hotel.

Teams Are Organized.
Yesterday was devoted by E. H. Williams, chairman of the auxiliary teams, to organizing his forces. He will have in teams of twenty-five members each, 200 men in all. The following will act as captains: John F. Hagey, John C. Armstrong, Frank C. Cothran, William M. Fagan, Nathan M. Sharpe, William P. Nitz, Harry K. Allen, Daniel J. Ward, Bertel O. Henning, and Bert C. Smith.

The auxiliary teams will meet tomorrow night in the red room at the La Salle and will receive instructions and the names of about 5,000 persons who are to be solicited by them. The slogan of the Chicago campaign is "Fight or Give!" Harry S. Harned will act as secretary for the auxiliary forces and their headquarters will be rooms 1534-1536 First National Bank building. It was announced yesterday that one of the men who contributed $100,000 Saturday, helping to bring the total amount subscribed up to $1,200,000, was William Wrigley Jr., a member of the executive committee.

Plan New Record.
"In doing this campaign Chicago is planning to write a new record for American philanthropy," said Mr. Williams yesterday. Mr. Williams said that, although he

ZONE OF QUIET

Loeb and Thompson Invited to Sit at Same Table at Banquet.

SOMETHING of a strain is expected on the conversational bon mots of Messrs. W. H. Thompson, mayor, and Jacob M. Loeb, president of the school board, if certain plans concerning tonight's dinner of the American League club are put through on schedule.

Not only have the mayor and Mr. Loeb both been invited but they have been asked to sit at the same table. The dinner is a conference of representatives of cooperating organizations interested in promoting community Fourth of July celebrations. Mr. Loeb has accepted his invitation, but the mayor has not yet. "As both the city council and the school board have endorsed this movement, we need the active cooperation of both Mayor Thompson and Mr. Loeb," said W. P. MacNeil, executive secretary of the celebration committee. "A delegation tried to see the mayor on Friday, but was informed by his secretary that he would not return until Monday. We have not yet received his acceptance." The citizens' war board has endorsed plans of the committee, and the park boards have voted the use of all the parks for the celebration. "A spontaneous response has been made throughout the state to the suggestion of the state council of defense that observance of this year's Fourth of July be of a serious and devoutly patriotic character," it was announced.

has obtained 250 volunteer solicitors, he can use a lot more, and he wants all who can to join his forces. John W. Champion, executive secretary of the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross, said yesterday that he has every confidence that Chicago will subscribe her share of the war fund. The Chicago chapter will cooperate with those handling the war fund campaign in every way possible.

Mr. Taft Gives Figures.
Statistics sent out by ex-President William Howard Taft who is actively engaged in helping to raise the $100,000,000 war fund, show conclusively that there will be need for every cent of the amount asked for.

During May, his statistics show, the losses of the British army were 28,000 privates killed, 1,550 officers killed, 76,000 privates wounded, 3,800 officers wounded, and, in addition to that, 7,000 missing. This is a total of 112,000 men out of the British army in one month.

"When figures like these begin to apply to our own forces," he said in a recent speech, "the people will begin to understand that we really are at war." "Then," said Frank O. Wetmore, heading the Chicago campaign for Red Cross funds, "the people will begin to understand why the Red Cross must really have a $100,000,000 war fund."

PROF. HANSTEIN, IDOL OF PUPILS, DIES OF INJURY

Lane Drawing Teacher and Toymaker Fatally Hurt
in the Street.

Prof. Herman Hanstein, 74 years old, known by thousands of school children for his wonderful drawings, for the funny, jumping toys he made them, and for the music of his flute, will be missed at the examinations at the Lane Technical school today. It is the first time in forty years, since he entered the school system, that the senior class will be disappointed.

At Garfield and Lincoln avenues, on his way from a meeting of pioneer teachers on Thursday, he was struck and his skull fractured. He was taken unconscious to the Augustana hospital, where he died on Friday night, unable to tell what had struck him. A son-in-law said last night that several persons will testify at the inquest this morning that he was struck by a Lincoln avenue street car.

Born in Germany.
Prof. Hanstein was born in Giesen, Germany, the university city where his father was a professor. In 1883 he won distinction as an athlete at the international meet in London.

He came to America in 1898 and settled at Ottawa, Ill. Then he came to Chicago after the fire and was drawing teacher in the Central High school, the only high school in the city. He had served for more than forty years as supervisor of drawing in the high schools. Since W. Z. Egan became principal of Lane Technical High school he had taught drawing there, and played his flute in the Lane orchestra.

Author of Several Text Books.
He was the author of several text books on mechanical drawing used in the schools and invented a compass and the rotostat and the goniatat, devices for illustrating problems in drawing and geometry. A delegation of teachers will attend the funeral services at the North Side Turner hall Tuesday at 2 p. m. A Masonic lodge, Accordia No. 277, will conduct the services at Graceland cemetery. He is survived by a widow, Mrs. Emma Hanstein, two sons, Carl Hanstein, a teacher in manual training at the high school, and Dr. Harry Hanstein, and three daughters.

Chicago Must Raise $8,000,000 THIS WEEK for the RED CROSS WARFUND

AND CHICAGO'S SLOGAN IS "I WILL"

Every city, town and hamlet is working to produce $100,000,000 for urgent RED CROSS needs. The President has set aside June 18 to 25 for this drive. Chicago's share is $8,000,000. And Chicago will do her duty!

What is this money needed for?

1st—To succor our wounded and sick soldiers—now in Europe—more soon to go—more in training.

2nd—To aid the dependents of our soldiers and sailors left at home—the lonesome families with a vacant chair.

3rd—To alleviate the suffering in the Allied Countries of Europe—in Belgium, France and Russia the situation is beyond all present efforts to cope with the wants.

Never in the history of mankind has there arisen a need equal to this for your charity—the most sublime exercise of the "Golden Rule" spirit.

Will you do unto these others as ye would it might be done unto you? Make your answer worthy of American citizenship. Let us write a new record for American philanthropy.

Consider this and determine thoughtfully what is your rightful share. Be ready when you're called upon.

ASSEMBLY ENDS SESSION AFTER ALL NIGHT WORK

Lowden Hopes to Cut Two Millions from Expense
Bills.

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.

Springfield, Ill., June 17.—(Special.)—Just as Springfield church bells were ringing for early service the Illinois general assembly quit business for the session. The final gavel fell at 7:30 this morning in the house and in the senate a half minute later, and thereby a new record was hung up for the length of the last night proceedings. The last legislative day that began Saturday morning was practically a twenty-four hour nonstop affair.

The last official act was to punch a death blow to the Guernsey bill for the creation of a state censorship for moving pictures. Unexpectedly the bill had been sent to conference at 3:30 this morning, further tying up the two houses that were waiting for the return of the conference reports on the omnibus, charities, penal, and food and mouth appropriation bills.

The conference on the censorship bill could not agree. The senate refused to give up its contention that the Chicago censorship board be eliminated from the working of the bill.

Big Sums Appropriated.
Representative Burns' bill that would have permitted cities to establish fire drills in manufacturing establishments went to death by the same route.

As nearly as can be approximated tonight the total of all appropriations as they go to Gov. Lowden is somewhat in excess of $61,000,000, $3,000,000 greater than the aggregate of the last legislature. This total will be trimmed materially by the executive.

Director of Finance Wright of the governor's cabinet submitted eighty-seven recommendations for reductions that had been agreed upon in an all evening conference of the cabinet and of department heads. This reached the conference committee too late to be used practically. This report will serve as a diagram to be followed by Gov. Lowden in considering the bills and it is expected that at least $2,000,000 will be lopped from different measures.

As estimated tonight by Chairman Smolal of the house-appropriation committee the totals carried in the big supply bills are about as follows:

Omnibus bill.....	$18,837,487.20
Charitable, ordinary.....	10,280,179.00
Charitable, extraordinary.....	900,000.00
Penal and reformatory.....	2,813,014.00
Normal schools.....	1,574,962.02

Gives Vote to Soldiers.
One of the last bills to be enacted was the Bailey soldiers' voting measure that had been resting in the house because of Democratic opposition. It went through without opposing vote, however. The bill provides that Illinois troops in the field shall vote for all state officers.

The house passed an amended child labor bill that is held by its backers to strengthen materially the present law. The last big fight was staged at 4 o'clock over two bills increasing the tax rate for corporate purposes in downtown cities from 1.2 per cent to 2 per cent. The bills were ardently desired by Springfield, because the city is now dry and the loss of the saloon revenue has crippled the municipal finances. Interests that fought the measures said that "they are bills to make Springfield permanently dry." They carry referendum clauses. They barely scraped through the house.

Keet Baby Case Comes Before Grand Jury Today
Springfield, Mo., June 17.—(Special.)—An investigation of the mystery of the kidnapping and murder of Baby Lloyd Keet has been ordered by the Greene county grand jury. The twelve inquirers will convene here tomorrow morning. Announcement of the investigation was made by Prosecutor Paul M. O'Day. ## CHICAGO CLUBS' TALK IS DRY IF THROATS ARE NOT Speak Uninterestedly of Women's Plea to Stop Drinking.

Leading Chicago clubs, which have been urged by resolution of the Illinois branch of the woman's council of national defense to refrain from serving alcoholic beverages during the war, apparently are not regarding the resolution with that degree of seriousness observed by the council in promulgating it.

Despite the fact that the directorates of a number of the clubs concerned have held meetings since the resolution was adopted about a week ago, only one—the Standard club—has given the subject formal attention, and the extent of that institution's consideration was merely to request its house committee to get in communication with other clubs and find out their intentions.

Eleven Clubs Questioned.
Officers of eleven of the leading clubs of the city were asked yesterday as to the status of the resolution with relation to their respective organizations. They made the following replies:

Edward L. Ryerson, president Chicago club—"The matter is not under consideration by the executive committee as yet. No canvass of the members has been taken, and I do not know whether one will be. I am unable to express any opinion as to the feelings of members on the proposition."

Nelson N. Lampert, Chicago Athletic association—"So far as I know, no communication from the woman's defense council has been received by the club. Such a proposition, if made formally to the club, undoubtedly would receive due consideration."

Horace H. Martin of the board of governors, University club—"I have heard no talk at the club regarding the resolution and do not know whether it will be considered."

The Hamilton Club.
Frederick A. Rowe, president Hamilton club—"The matter will be brought before the board of directors at its meeting a week from Monday, and I assume that the question may be put up for a vote by the membership. The Hamilton club would not be affected to any considerable extent by going 'dry,' as its total annual bar profits amount only to $2,000, whereas those of the Chicago Athletic club are $24,000."

Robert Braeutgam, president Germania club—"The resolution has not been considered as yet, but probably will be."

Bertram M. Winston, president Midway club—"The matter will be considered in the ordinary routine of business when it comes up at the next directors' meeting."

Charles H. Markham, president Chicago Golf club—"No action has been taken as yet. In my opinion the question is one for the membership to consider. Whether or not it will be placed before the members is a matter for the board of directors to determine."

Expects Government Action.
George R. Linn, chairman of the house committee, Illinois Athletic club—"We've had no correspondence from the woman's defense council. I do not believe the club will take such a step individually, but probably would join with the other clubs in doing so. The government probably will take some action about it in the future anyway."

4 GIRLS AMONG 28 NEW LAWYERS

Twenty-eight students, including four girls, received diplomas yesterday from Chancellor John J. Tobias of the Chicago Law school at the school's twenty-eighth annual commencement exercises at the municipal pier auditorium. The commencement address was delivered by Judge Hugo Pam and the "charge to graduates" by Judge W. M. Gemmill.

Federal, state, and municipal bodies are constantly enacting thousands of laws, statutes, and ordinances which tend to detract from the personal liberty of individuals," Judge Gemmill said. "Yet in taking away from the liberties of the individual those laws are designed to protect the liberties and interests of the public at large."

"Adherence to law is not any longer today a matter of cheerful resignation to authority. It is a cheerful, sane sacrifice we all make, if a particular law or ordinance affects us, so that our neighbors at large may be protected."

Kills Himself with Razor.
Fred Haddendorf, 34 years old, an electrician, ended his life in the bathroom of his home, 8401 South Peoria street, yesterday by slashing his left wrist with a razor.

UNITE TO FIGHT TAMMANY HALL

New York, June 17.—Announcement was made here tonight of the formation of a new Democratic organization "to put the Democracy of New York on a basis consistent with the national ideals of the party." This, it was declared, "necessarily means immediate and relentless war upon Tammany hall."

The new organization is headed by Martin W. Littleton as temporary president, and includes in its membership, the announcement said, Francis Lynde Stetson, Frederic R. Coudert, Frank L. Polk, H. Snowden Marshall, Cleveland R. Dodge, Irvin S. Cobb, and Ellis Parker Butler.

"The city Democracy has been formed," said the statement, "as a permanent medium for political action by that great body of Democrats in New York City who cannot and will not follow the dictation of Tammany Hall."

Watchman Ends His Life.
Harry Weinberger of 318 North Francisco avenue, a private policeman employed by the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, was found dead yesterday in his room from a bullet wound in the left side of the chest. He is said by the police to have had tuberculosis.

ALCONQUIN CAMP OPEN THURSDAY; GOING TO HELP?

"Tribune" Readers Again
Invited to Aid Poor
Mothers.

"Back of the yards," "whiskey corners," and other tenement neighborhoods will eagerly absorb the information that the Tansum hospital will open next Thursday. The first party of convalescent poor mothers and their babies will leave from the Northwestern station on that day for Algonquin, Ill.

There is a chance for every man, woman, and child in Chicago who has the heart of a comfortable home and three square meals a day to help some poor mother and her children obtain the benefits of the same comfort, plus eight or nine days of fresh air and sunshine. It is estimated that $5 will give eight or nine days' care for a poor, convalescent mother. That includes food, transportation, supervision, nursery service, medical care, and general overhead expenses. Fifteen or twenty dollars will give a whole family an outing for eight or nine days.

Deaths Must Be Checked.

Bernard C. Roloff, financial secretary of the United Charities, reports that it is believed that 500 more babies will die in Chicago during the summer months than died a year ago unless at least as many mothers and children are sent to camps and farms as usual. Last year the United Charities helped obtain outgoings for 25,000. The health department declares that during May the death rate jumped from thirteen to sixteen per thousand, and the increase was largely in the infants.

Despite high living costs, Mrs. Laura J. Collier, superintendent of the camp, reports that it will be cheaper to feed poor families at the camp than at their homes.

The United Charities selects the people for both Camp Algonquin and Tansum hospital from families already known to it to be the most deserving and needy. It is certain that mothers and babies' lives will be saved through the rebuilding and refreshing process that goes on in the beautiful camp at Algonquin.

Readers Gave $2,000.

The camp comprises twenty acres of heavily wooded land on the hilly slopes of the Fox River valley one and one-half miles from Algonquin and twelve miles from Elgin. There are sixteen substantial buildings on the property and many family tents.

Last year a total of 1,864 persons were given care ranging from seven days to two months each at a total cost of less than $8,000, of which Tansum readers contributed over $2,000 and The Tribune $1,000.

LABOR NOTES

State Defense Council Asked to Investigate Machinists' Strike.

A REQUEST that the state council of defense investigate a strike of machinists at the plants of the American Can company and an alleged lockout at the factory of the Copenhagen Snuff company was made yesterday to Victor A. Olander, secretary of the Illinois Federation of Labor, by President Schoenberg of the machinists' union. Mr. Olander, who is a member of the defense council, will ascertain what action the council will be in a position to take regarding the matter.

Resolutions honoring the memory of James Payne, president of the boxmakers' union, who died recently, were adopted by the Chicago Federation of Labor.

Financial aid will be given by local organized labor to bakery workers locked out in New Jersey and to striking employees of the Springfield, Mo., traction company.

Andrew Herblison has been endorsed by Chicago labor organizations for the position of deputy state factory inspector.

Members of the street car men's and elevator operators' union are to be asked to aid in organizing Chicago letter carriers into a union.

"BIG BROTHERS"; HOW THEY HELP CATHOLIC BOYS

The first comprehensive report on the Catholic "Big Brothers" movement, inaugurated last December by Archbishop Mundelein, was made yesterday afternoon at the Holy Angels' club hall, Oakwood boulevard and Vincennes avenue, by Bishop A. J. McGavick, who said that the results so far have been most gratifying.

All boys turned over to the Big Brothers are taken in charge by the members in the boys' respective parishes. Homes are found for the homeless and jobs are found for those old enough to work. The boys are then encouraged in their efforts to improve and much is done to bolster them up.

In the Boys' court the cases of 1,022 Catholic boys were considered between Jan. 1 and June 2, 1917. A few boys were sent to institutions and the rest were turned over to the Big Brothers. Of 150 held to the grand jury fifty-six were first offenders. Their being held in the county jail is strongly disapproved of by Bishop McGavick, who believes first offenders should be paroled pending indictment and trial except in the most serious cases.

Duquoin Priest Signs First Mass.

Duquoin, Ill., June 17.—[Special.]—The Rev. Edward J. Cahill of this city, ordained to the priesthood by Archbishop Glenn at Kenrick seminary, St. Louis, Thursday, sang his first mass in the Sacred Heart Catholic church here today. A number of relatives and friends from Chicago and Springfield, the former home of the Rev. Cahill, and other points in Illinois, attended the ceremony.

SEXTON'S CASTOR MOTOR OIL WINS!

100-Mile Non-Professional Race at the Chicago Speedway Saturday

Remarkable Victory for the Oil!

Percy Ford Jr. and mechanic in Haynes Stock Car, which made remarkable record on Sexton's Castor Motor Oil.

89 Miles Per Hour With a Stock Car

Percy Ford Jr., driving a 12-cylinder Haynes stock car, broke the world's amateur record for 100 miles at Speedway Park Saturday, winning the amateur classic of America with an average of 89 miles per hour—without a stop—an additional record for stock cars.

The Only Car With a Non-Stop Record

His car was the only one in this race that was not forced to stop at the pit for engine repairs. He used Sexton's Castor Motor Oil!

This feat demonstrates clearly under the most severe test possible that a lubricant can be subjected to, that Sexton's Castor Motor Oil is the most perfect lubricant for the modern motor.

Recognized as the Perfect Lubricant

Sexton's Castor Motor Oil is not a racing oil, but is designed especially for the ordinary pleasure car and is guaranteed to give from two to three times greater mileage than any other oil on the market, as well as less carbon, greater power, and through its heat resisting qualities effects a saving in gasoline, as it positively cannot be broken down by gasoline vapors. Through the predetermined proportions of castor and mineral oils Sexton's Castor Motor Oil is acknowledged by science and the trade to be the perfect lubricant.

These are not mere claims but facts, proven by actual test in thousands of motor cars in every day use throughout the world.

You Need Sexton's for Your Car—Buy It Now

If you are not now a user of Sexton's Castor Motor Oil you are not getting 100 per cent lubrication. Get it today from your dealer or phone our City Sales Office, Harrison 52, for information.

BY I. E. SAN

Another flock of Cubans, sixteen"—failed to move from a third strike in the final game of the season. The score was 5 to 3, and back to fourth place.

As on the day before, he baited their opponents but lacked the punch of the pits of all the pinch hitters. One onslaught in the sixth produced a score. Claude Hendrix of the Browns was the winning inning. The Mitchells kept Frank Allen, who started as a hurler after they compelled Stan to win and let Barnes

It was the toughest, it cracked the Cub attack. First of all, Maranville from Mann's bat and roared hit. Doyle, Merkle followed with singles. Knocked down by Eversase, and he recovered the ball to third for a fly. Doyle overran third as to Wolter, who was a then threw him.

After the verdict, then, they were taken to the jail. Harrison ruled Doyle was innocent and they appealed to Henry O'Day. The verdict because of a technical violation of the rules of Doyle's way.

The decision resulted in a lot of Doyle for King. He told O'Day something about the condition of the jail and Hank chased him. After Tom Hughes was talking lines for many years remarks. The news had been working Quigley so long that he was a habit of talking the

An Adam Dining Suite

The Sideboard illustrates quite well the best points of this classical design. True to type, pleasing in effect, the price is most moderate for material and construction of this class. The Suite is in mahogany.

72 in. Sideboard, $110
60 in. Sideboard, $85
Serving Table, $42
54 in. Table, extends to 8 ft., $85

Eighth Floor.

Adam Bedroom Suite, Special, $215

This price scarcely indicates the value of this Suite. The lines of the Dresser shown will give a fairly accurate idea of the design, but the beauty of the wood, the excellent finish, are things one must see for oneself.

The Suite is in antique mahogany and contains four pieces—Bed, Dresser, Toilet Table and Chiffonier. It is one of twelve Suites specially priced during this month.

Ninth Floor.

A Special Selling of Upholstered Furniture

A special purchase means reduced prices to us—which are reflected in correspondingly reduced retail prices. That is why these Sofas and Chairs are marked so low.

Solid mahogany and cane Sofa, loose cushion seat; "Adam" design; covered in damask; $79. Chair to match, $42.50. (Sketches.)

An Overstuffed Sofa, with attractive "Queen Anne" frame of solid mahogany, has loose cushions and spring seat, $59.

Wing Chair, "Queen Anne," in solid mahogany; covered in velour. Special at $25.

Eighth Floor.

$100,000,000 RED CROSS WAR FUND

JUDGE GEMMILL AND A. J. CERMAK AGAIN PASS LIFE

Artist Details Charges Against Bailiff and Assails Fellows.

Chicago Court Judge William N. Gemmill yesterday reiterated his charge that "thousands of dollars of art" have been collected by A. J. Cermak, chief bailiff of the Municipal Court, and his associates.

Cermak replied by calling Judge Gemmill a "liar, cur, and dirty innuendo." He also countercharged that Gemmill, now "posting as a temperate advocate, had a deal with the Societies for Local Self Government to bring up the case of the Municipal Court in the effort to elect a personal bailiff, James E. Marek, to the legislature from the Nineteenth district."

Judge Denies Deal.

"To which Judge Gemmill replied: 'I never had any dealings with that kind of a man. I would sooner line up with the devil than that gang. Their support would cost me 10,000 votes. I told Cermak to his face their opposition to me was the best asset I could have. He's just browbeating.'"

"I say that Cermak has been collecting thousands of dollars from his deputies. 'He says the men contribute voluntarily to some benevolent society that carries a bailiff when he dies. I say they don't contribute voluntarily. 'Why, they're collecting for something all the time in Cermak's office. 'I have been on the Municipal Court bench since the court was first established. I am one of the three who have served continuously. The first five years of the court I earned more than I cost to operate it. Since then it has been falling behind."

"One reason for this is the politics played by Cermak and his crowd. They have so many bailiffs in some courts they are falling over one another. We could save $100,000 a year in the wages if the chief bailiff would cut out Cermak and his political allies. That's what I do."

Comment on Judges.

Then the judge paid his respects to each of his brother judges.

"The judges' committee on bailiffs is composed of Judge John Stetson, Judge Edward Hayes, and Judge Edward Fry. They are hearing the Gemmill charges before Chief Justice Olson."

Says Judge Gemmill of this committee:

"Judge Stetson was for four years Cermak's personal attorney before Stetson took the bench. Cermak put him on the slate."

"Judge Hayes I criticized for demanding patronage from Cermak, then pleading for Cermak."

"Judge Fry is all right, but he's in the minority."

"The talk by Cermak that I'm playing politics and am a candidate for chief justice to succeed Chief Justice Olson is all rot. I'll support Olson."

Judge Gemmill says the whole trouble started when the court tried to cut down expenses on a plea from the finance committee of the city council. He said he offered the resolution that the man be dropped from both the list of the clerk's list of appointments and the list of appointments to the court to save $50,000. The entire court, he says, approved the resolution.

Says Cermak Defied Order.

"The clerk at once proceeded to comply with the order," said the judge. "But the bailiff, Mr. Cermak, defied us. He said he would not charge any one."

"On Friday night, before the judges, I insisted that Cermak cut down his salary by at least twenty men. I charged him that he had many more men than he needed, and that his private chauffeur was on his payroll as a bailiff."

"I charged, also, that by reason of the one or two Republican judges serving on the court, Cermak had become the law and that his supporters were expected to pay him $50,000."

"Immediately upon my statement being made in the session, one of the judges left the room and informed his lordship that a judge had been elected to the court, and the angry Cermak insisted that he be given an opportunity to rebut me."

"For years Cermak has lorded it over the judges. He has boldly strode into the judges' meetings, made his demands and gotten them. He has had an increase of thirty-five bailiffs during the year, an additional cost of nearly $50,000."

Cermak Makes Reply.

"To which Mr. Cermak makes reply: 'Why, this dirty cur, this low ingrate, has nothing but a double cross. Why, I worked with the wets last year in getting Mark, his bailiff, elected to the legislature. Four men were nominated in the Nineteenth district, one of them Mark. All four were wets, and I was on the executive committee of the United Societies. He still is a member of the organization. Rev. Smith and other dry leaguers in the district have about to put a dry candidate in the place of the wets he would have. The drys and Gemmill got in touch with the wets and persuaded them not to put their candidate."

"Then Gemmill has taken the case and has been making prohibition demands. He has lied about everything I have said."

"He said that some of my bailiffs were corrupt, that they had been bribed. He backed up when I told him that I was not his face."

"Gemmill is a candidate for chief justice and he looks as if he is hoping to get the support of Mayor Thompson."

"The investigation will be resumed this morning before Chief Justice Olson."

SUMMER SPORTS AT THE ILLINOIS

BY PERCY HAMMOND.

INDIGNATION may or it may not be an emotion possible to music, but it is, the tunes of "Dew Drop Inn" certainly ought to be peevish with the literature which accompanies them in that promising summer show at the Illinois.

All the more so since the book needs only a minute or two of the time of its authors, Mr. Hamard and Mr. Knight, to make it fit to associate with the brightest of Mr. Sloan's melodies. As this is typed I imagine the librettists to be engaged in their studio at the Sherman, adding a wheeze here, subtracting one there, and putting the story generally into trimmer shape.

Mr. Hamard, as you may know, wrote part of "Turn to the Right," and Mr. Knight is a droll Englishman who wrote in "Dew Drop Inn." Both are worthy entertainers when they give themselves a chance.

Winona Winter

A trio of humorous bandit having been popular in "Turn to the Right," they are engaged again at the Illinois. Their attempted depredations center in a summer house near New York, but it is inferred, they all fall in love, turn square, and are honest, prosperous, and in full evening dress at the end. In "Dew Drop Inn" Mr. Sloan is the angel parent who supplies the jam. His music is the jammiest music that has fallen on my ear since he, who has recently been a dancing master, put aside his lute for the patent-leather pump. It is a bit of a brew of balmy airs, melting, victrolous, strappy, velvet, even gummy at times, and always palatable to those who like their music sweet. On violins, coming across a moonlit lake, it might inspire sentiment, perhaps temporary and precarious, but sentiment. Furthermore, its orchestration is faithful, with bells tinkling at the right instant and the seductive cello moaning shrewdly its romantic interpolations. The name of the dreamiest of Mr. Sloan's contributions is, no doubt, "Through Twilight Lane." It is rendered by Miss Winona Winter, a blonde, slim, and alert young woman, and Mr. Fred, a young man, of whom it may be said that he is a brother of Joseph.

But he is manly and earnest, and Miss Winter is quiet and pretty, singing and dancing well, and cured, it seems, of the petty vice of ventriloquism, which used to mark her appearances in public. Their love affair dominates the show, except when a plump and pleasing poney chorists enter and utter harmonious notes of Mr. Sloan's score. Mr. Frank Smithson, who is a master

MAYOR'S SCHOOL SLATE GOES TO COUNCIL TODAY

The city council today will decide whether or not it wants Mayor Thompson's slate of appointees or the present school board to direct the educational activities of the city.

Action on the appointees is the special order of business before the aldermen this afternoon, but a hot fight will take place before adjournment.

The majority report of the schools committee, asking confirmation of the list, will be presented, as will the minority report demanding an entire new slate for the mayor. The latter has said that if the appointments are not confirmed he will name no others for the board while the present council is in session. He will be one of the weapons brought to play against the report of the committee by Ald. A. A. McCormick. By reading passages of the "secret file" investigation he hopes to show the council just how little is known of the qualifications of the mayor's appointees. What action the council will finally take is a toss-up.

The gas choice will be called up for passage today by Ald. Thomas J. Lynch, chairman of the council gas, oil and electric light committee.

Operation for Abscess on George Bronson-Howard

New York, June 17.—(Special.)—George Bronson-Howard, the author, was operated on this morning at his home, 101 West Eighty-sixth street, for an abscess in his left side. The operation was performed by Dr. Alexander S. Hoffman. Relatives said tonight he would be confined to his home for at least two weeks.

TIED WATCHMAN ROLLS TO SAFETY AS FLAMES NEAR

Bound by Safeblowers Whose Blast Ignites Looted Store.

Louis Wolf, 50 years old, of 630 North Leavitt street, had a thrilling escape from death in a burning building after he had been bound hand and foot by safeblowers at 3 o'clock yesterday morning.

Four masked men climbed a telephone pole in the rear of the Lion Dry Goods store, 1100 West Eighteenth street, owned by Herman R. Minch, and entered by a third story window. They met Wolf at the head of the stairs. They covered him with revolvers, and having tied his hands and feet with rope, threw him on the floor in a corner, where one remained guard over him.

Leave Him Helpless.

The other three blew open the safe on the same floor and obtained $1,100. They left Wolf bound on the floor, climbed down the telephone pole and escaped. The helpless watchman saw with terror flames begin to play over a blanket with which the robbers had covered the safe to deaden the explosion.

As he lay in his corner unable to get to his feet, the blaze spread among boxes and bales of dry goods. In a few minutes the fire had covered the walls with a crackling mantle and was eating holes in the ceiling. Suffocating smoke filled the place.

In vain Wolf struggled to free himself. Every second the flames crawled nearer and the smoke grew denser. With death a matter of minutes he began to roll across the floor. He directed his course toward a door which opened on a fire escape. It offered him one hope of rescue.

Rolls Through Flame.

Once he rolled through a line of thin flame. Momentarily awestruck of smoke shut off his view of the door. But he kept on rolling. He reached the door. Propping his back against the wall, he swung to his feet. With his hands bound behind him, he managed to grasp the knob. Turning it in the lock was difficult, but he did it. Turning the knob was another problem, but he solved it. The door swung open and Wolf fell headlong across the fire escape as a black cloud of smoke boiled out around him.

A neighbor living across the alley heard his cries for help and opened an alarm. Firemen, mounting a ladder, found Wolf unconscious and carried him down to safety. The fire was extinguished with a loss of a few hundred dollars.

UTILITY AND BEAUTY MARK THIS BAZAAR

It is the proud boast of Mrs. I. J. Kusel that as a merchandising center the bazaar being held tonight for the benefit of the Maimonides hospital rivals the loop department stores.

Mrs. Kusel, who is chairman of the bazaar, said that the committee, made up of the most successful merchants in the city, had gathered together in the various booths a vast assortment of merchandise which is being sold to raise the $25,000 necessary to reopen the hospital.

One may purchase anything at the bazaar from a good cigar to a complete outfit of clothing.

To those whose souls are above mere merchandise a more esthetic appeal is made by the dozens of bewitching girls quaintly costumed, who dispose of red roses.

The bazaar will continue tonight at the hospital grounds, California avenue and Fifteenth street, for the balance of the week.

Dr. Peabody, Chicago, Named Appleton Pastor

Appleton, Wis., June 17.—(Special.)—Dr. H. E. Peabody of South Congregational church, Drexel boulevard, Chicago, was today unanimously chosen as pastor of the First Congregational church, Appleton, the largest church of that denomination in Wisconsin and one of the largest in the middle west. Dr. Peabody has not indicated whether he will accept.

Arrest in Detroit May Clear Up Kohler Murder

The arrest yesterday of James Marshall in Detroit led the Chicago police to hope that the murder of Kathryn Kohler at Iowa street and Monticello avenue last March would be cleared up.

News of the arrest, detailing the murder was found in Marshall's pocket. The police here learned, however, the clippings had been sent to him by Miss Minnie Sills, 3133 West Ohio street, and that he was out of the city when Miss Kohler was killed.

Miss Sills explained to the police that Marshall formerly lived at 316 North Hamilton street, in the same neighborhood as Miss Kohler, and she thought he would be interested in the newspaper articles.

WHEN A FELLER NEEDS A FRIEND

BURNHAM QUIET LAST NIGHT; GAY ONES IN FEAR

Burnham, the town with the chivalry soul, was relatively peaceful last night as the result of the threatened exposure of its week-end celebrants by Mayor J. D. Smalley of Hammond.

Mayor Smalley reported recently that the good people of his city were disturbed by the week-enders who went tearing through the town in their machines in the small hours. He avowed that his constituents, moreover, were shocked at the conduct of the revelers. He told of one automobile party, a member of which was a woman quite unbecomingly.

Mayor Smalley on Thursday said his detectives had listed the numbers of the automobiles which frequented Burnham and he was prepared to print a list of the owners' names.

Hence the quiet in Burnham last night. Johnnie Patton, the boy mayor of Burnham, was back in town last night, but had nothing to say.

Colosimo Arrested Again on Sunday Closing Charge

"Big Jim" Colosimo, proprietor of the cafe of his name at 2128 South Wabash avenue, was arrested early yesterday in a raid on his place and booked at the Twenty-second street station on a charge of violating the Sunday closing law. Some 200 persons were seated at tables in the cafe when, just before 3 a. m., five detectives entered and arrested Colosimo.

Brass Band to Greet Arriving Lutherans

A reception committee headed by a brass band will meet delegates arriving at the Union depot at 2 o'clock to attend the federal council of Lutheran brotherhoods which meets tonight and tomorrow in the Hotel La Salle.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

Last Thursday's Tribune contained a picture of Nuncio Sabino, born on Liberty-day, and given its first-name after numerous suggestions had been made that it be called Liberty, Usona, or some other name of patriotic implication. The child was described in the text under the picture as a girl. It is a boy.

Friday's issue said that the Flag-Day program in Lincoln, Garfield, and Washington parks was arranged by A. R. Lewis, president of the American Flag-Day Association. Augusta v. H. McAllister, national secretary of the association, asks that its second vice-president, Walter J. Sarjent, be given sole credit for the Washington Park program. Captain Lewis, Secretary McAllister said, arranged the program at Hamilton Park.

BIRTHDAY GUN WOUND FATAL TO NORTON BOY

Seventeen year old Frederick Norton of Racine, son of F. Lee Norton, former treasurer of the Case Threshing Machine company, died last night in a Kenosha hospital. He had shot himself accidentally with an automatic pistol given him on his birthday by his father.

Young Norton drove to Kenosha Saturday night to visit Miss Margaret Rowell and Miss Elizabeth Wheeler at the home of Dr. E. F. Rowell on Durkee avenue. He showed them the pistol and explained that his father had given it to him. He put the weapon back in his vest pocket and started for the door. There was an explosion and the boy fell to the floor. The bullet passed directly through him.

His father hurried to Kenosha from Racine and was with him when he died. The body was taken to Racine last night. Burial will be tomorrow from the Norton home.

BAHAIS MEET; DECLARE THEY WILL SAVE WORLD

Two hundred disciples of Baha'ullah and Abdul Baha from all parts of the country met in a single day's convention yesterday and held two sessions at the Auditorium hotel in the afternoon, and one in the evening at the Masonic temple.

Charles Greenleaf, leading Chicago Bahai, acted as chairman. Addresses were delivered by A. H. Hall of Minneapolis, W. H. Randall of Boston, and others.

According to Mr. Randall, Abdul Baha, "supreme servant of the supreme teacher, Baha'ullah," is the figure destined to unite all the nations in a great world unity. Just how this is to be done the speaker did not explain, but he appeared to have no doubt of the matter.

"Men are talking today of world democracy," he said. "How shall the world attain to its new ideal? Coming the amazing proclamation of the Bahais of America and the world! The Bahai movement is the solution of all the social, political and religious differences which submerge the world today."

CAPT. O'BRIEN QUILTS POLICE TO ENTER BUSINESS

Chief Schuetzler yesterday received the resignation of Capt. William F. O'Brien of the Hyde Park station. O'Brien asked that the resignation take effect on July 2. He stated he intended to engage in private business. O'Brien was at one time head of the detective bureau. He was suspended by former Chief Healey on charges that he allowed the notorious Beaux Arts club, in South State street, to keep open after hours.

CHIEF TRANSFERS 19 OFFICERS AS BOND RING MOVE

East Chicago Avenue Station Gets Practically a New Deal.

In a drive against what is said to be a "corner" which professional bondsmen are alleged to maintain in the Twenty-first ward, Chief of Police Schuetzler yesterday gave the department another shakedown.

His order, by which three captains, four lieutenants, and twelve desk and patrol sergeants are transferred, practically cleaned out the East Chicago avenue station.

New men are transferred to this precinct for the purpose of putting an end to the bondsmen scandal in that district, as well as inaugurating a general cleaning up. It was rumored in police circles, although neither the chief nor First Deputy Westbrook would discuss the order further than to say it was "for the good of the department."

Profit on Saturday Raid.

An investigation by trusted men from headquarters, however, is said to have convinced the "front office" commanders that Thomas ("Spike") Hennessey and his brother, Maurice, who operate a saloon at Chicago avenue and North Clark street, have been doing a land office business with the crowds hauled in the Saturday night raids of late among the cabarets and rooming houses on North Clark street.

The recent raid on McGovern Bros., cafe 601 North Clark street, pulled the lid off the bondsmen's drag at the Chicago avenue station. Through the men who were caught in that raid told Judge Uhlir in the Morals court that, although they had between $30 and $40 in cash with them, they were refused a cash bond until a professional bondsman appeared. They were forced to pay the professional his price before they could get out.

Hennesseys on the Job.

Both "Spike" and his brother, Maurice Hennessey, were reported to have been on the job that night at the station. One report made to the police was that Maurice was called on the phone by one of the police officers at the station and told to hurry to the station. About seventy-eight men and women were nabbed in this one raid. Before the night was ended about 300 men and women had been taken to this one station.

It is alleged the Hennesseys were furnished with a list of the prisoners who had money on them and then given a pass to talk to them in the cell room. Judge Uhlir called First Deputy Westbrook into conference and laid before him the charges made by some of the "prisoners."

Yesterday's shakeup is said to bear a close relation to the information imparted by the judge.

Capt. Joseph C. Mullin is transferred from Chicago avenue to the Twenty-second street station.

Capt. James Gleason, former chief of police under Harrison, recently stationed at Desplaines street, is sent to Chicago avenue by the new chief with instructions to clean up the district at once.

Meagher Succeeds Gleason.

Capt. Thomas F. Meagher of the Cottage Grove avenue station is sent to Desplaines street to succeed Gleason at that post.

The lieutenants transferred are: Patrick E. Hogan, from Fifteenth street to Chicago avenue.

William H. Shoenaker, from Desplaines street to Chicago avenue.

Luke J. Garrick, from Chicago avenue to Desplaines street.

Thomas Fitzgerald, from Desplaines street to Fifteenth street.

The only commanding officer not transferred from Chicago avenue is Lieut. Charles K. Gertz, who is in command of Chief Schuetzler's gambling squad when the chief was first deputy.

Among the sergeants transferred is George G. Chait. Chait is sent to Warren avenue station for desk duty.

Sergeants Transferred.

Five other sergeants transferred from Chicago avenue are:

Barth J. Finn, to Sheffield avenue, desk duty.

Eugene O'Connor, from Warren avenue, desk duty.

George A. Gorman, from Sheffield avenue, desk duty.

John P. Saragard, from Desplaines street, patrol duty.

Martin C. Mulvihill, from Warren avenue, patrol duty.

James C. Quinlan, from Cottage Grove avenue, patrol duty.

Cash Bail for Twenty-seven.

The night of the raid the Hennesseys are said to have got out twenty-seven men's cash bond. "Spike" Hennessey is on the "bond shark" blacklist. After he had exhausted his cash surplus, it was reported to the commanding officers, he called in a woman named Leslie Carter, who scheduled $50,000 of real estate and through this means obtained the release of another batch.

One of the men left at the Chicago avenue station is Lockup Keeper O'Gara. He has been expecting a transfer for some time because he refused to accord the Hennesseys special favors.

Girl Robbed of Jewelry.

Miss May Giblin, 2759 Westworth avenue, was robbed of her jewelry, including a ruby and 10 cents by a Negro who accosted her at West Twenty-fifth and South La Salle streets yesterday morning. While on her way to church.

WALL STREET NOW WORKS FOR PROLONGED WAR

Effect on Finances and Industry in Months to Come Analyzed.

BY EUGENE HECTOR.
(Financial Editor of the Tribune.)

Important interests in Wall street have reached the belief that the war will be a prolonged one—that is, running over several years, that this country will expend and lend at least $10,000,000,000, and that 4,000,000 or 5,000,000 of United States troops may be required. This is not a prediction, but the expression of belief. With this prospect ahead, the foremost things that appear to confront the country are the really huge expenditures which will be made in this country and the contraction in male labor which will follow the sending abroad of armies. In the first instance it should mean higher prices and credit inflation, and, in the second, higher wages and the introduction of female labor.

The Money Situation.

It is with the money situation that immediate concern exists, and it seems an apt prediction to look for increasing circulation and up-and-down interest rates with each payment and redistribution of government loans, and with all higher prices for everything a fixed certainty.

In the coming period of the war the federal reserve bank system will be tried out and its effectiveness demonstrated in the equalization of rates for money in the different sections of the country, and for this function the reserve system, it is believed, is new or will be well prepared. In the last four weeks the reserve board at Washington has effected plans for the working together of the twelve reserve banks to meet conditions specifically brought about by the raising of the $2,000,000,000 Liberty loan and the sale to the banks of over $900,000,000 of United States treasury certificates of indebtedness.

No Disturbance as Yet.

Thus far conditions have been met without disturbance, and it seems an apt prediction to look for increasing circulation and up-and-down interest rates with each payment and redistribution of government loans, and with all higher prices for everything a fixed certainty. In the coming period of the war the federal reserve bank system will be tried out and its effectiveness demonstrated in the equalization of rates for money in the different sections of the country, and for this function the reserve system, it is believed, is new or will be well prepared. In the last four weeks the reserve board at Washington has effected plans for the working together of the twelve reserve banks to meet conditions specifically brought about by the raising of the $2,000,000,000 Liberty loan and the sale to the banks of over $900,000,000 of United States treasury certificates of indebtedness.

Reserve Bank System.

One-third the members of the directory of the different reserve banks is made up of the leading bankers of the several districts, and between them and other members of the board there is a natural business sympathy. So long as Washington policies are tolerable they will meet with the approval of the directors of the twelve banks. On the contrary, a policy by the federal reserve board at Washington which would plainly suggest unwisdom would meet with protests and possible rebellion at the reserve banks. There is, therefore, a reasonable safeguard for the system of banking that now obtains in this country and nothing to suggest apprehension.

In the market for securities, the prospect of an increase in rates for the railroads occupying a rather prominent position. The roads have filed schedules for an increase of 10 per cent in rates, beginning July 1. It will remain for the interstate commerce commission to suspend these schedules until a further period of investigation or modify them in some particulars.

Doubt 15 Per Cent Raise.

It is assumed that owing to the general desire for cooperation the commission may take a more favorable view of the plea of the roads than would have been otherwise the case, but good opinion in Washington holds that the full 15 per cent will not be granted. The oversubscription of the Liberty loan by about 50 per cent, or $1,000,000,000, made greatly for public confidence, as did the registration of men. But in the market technical conditions caused a reaction in prices. It is an old story—also an old practice—that when all the good news is out of the country and nothing to suggest apprehension.

Private Policeman Dead;

Shot in Bandit Battle

John Byers of 4730 Gladys avenue, a private policeman employed by A. Stein & Co., partner in the business, 1149 West Congress street, died yesterday from a bullet wound in his back which he suffered several weeks ago when he was shot by bandits who robbed the firm's messenger of $7,000. Several members of the band, one of whom was fatally wounded, were later arrested.

Principal Still Missing;

Wife Fears for His Mind

No trace has yet been found of Alfred R. Brown of 5828 West Huron street, the principal of the A. Brown business college, who has been missing since June 8. Mrs. Brown says she is certain her husband is out of his mind, due to overwork, and is wandering about the city. The members of the Austin Christian church, of which Mr. Brown was an active member, have joined in the search.

FOREIGN DEMAND
CHECKS DROP IN CORN FUTURESHigh Cash Premiums Offset Crop News; Wheat
Trade Is Stagnant.Foreign efforts have been made to drive corn prices recently, but there has been persistent buying on the part of the buyers. The market quickly responded to the news, and the premiums have been buyers of cash corn. However, available, and sample prices have held at strong premiums in every market in the country, and even at interior points high prices prevailed.The action of the directware, in deciding that the maximum price established was absolute and that shorts would not be penalized about that factor created a more bearish sentiment temporarily, but with stocks of corn currently light at all points and cash premiums so high, the short sellers have had much of a leverage and the market has become oversold easily.Kansas City exporters have had to control trading, but shorts will either have to deliver or satisfy the buyer, thus leaving contracts still in force. The foreign situation, judging from reports, is strong. Greater use of corn is reported from the United Kingdom and on the continent.Foreign Requirements Heavy.
Export trade reports indicate there will be active buying of corn for a long time as the Argentine supply is exceedingly small compared to normal. Argentine in recent years has had the greater share of the export corn trade, but the crop failure in that country,
with the shutting off of supplies completely from Russia and the Balkans, has put the burden on this country to supply practically all the corn needed abroad. With tonnage available therefore will continue heavy. At present Canadian wheat is taking up the bulk of the available tonnage.The crop situation is bearish from the standpoint of acreage but moderately bullish on the present state of the crop.
It is undoubtedly true that the weather is cold and the weather too much rain in many sections. The crop is not dangerously late, however, at this time, and weather would prove a quick corrective of existing conditions. Private reports from the West indicate that from a viewpoint of price fluctuations the volume of speculative trade in the best market is practically a negligible factor at present in the grain trade.
Trade has been curtailed to an extent before known on the exchange by the restrictions on trading.Spring Wheat Crop Improves.
The weather has been more favorable for the growth of the spring wheat crop, and it is being suffering from drought which puts the crop in a much better position. The winter wheat crop has had favorable weather and the grain is standing in doing well, with moderately good crops of yields will be preliminary estimates. Private reports, however, have been more optimistic for several weeks than have the government and state reports.Northwest stocks are light and there will be little wheat to draw from the stocks and Kansas this year. East of the Mississippi the outlook is more favorable than in the hard wheat states.
Foreign conditions have shown some improvement due to more favorable weather, but the acreage reports show a big reduction, and import needs will be heavy for a long while to come.
Locally, however, will help a great deal in increasing the amount of wheat available.Fair Carry Over Expected.
There will be a moderate carry over in the new crop, the supply back in the country expected having been larger than expected, and primary receipts are still quite liberal. The interest of the carryover from the previous crop or crop was larger than expected, while the crop from this year has been somewhat underestimated.
The carryover, however, or otherwise the carryover has been more acute than it has been in previous years.Higher Range in Oats.
Oats have been a good trade, and the market has been good. Values have been good. A good class of buying and the market has been good. The crop news has not had so much effect on the market as it has had in the past. The crop news for the present, as stocks have declined rapidly and stocks are not as abundant as they were.
The domestic trade in oats is characterized by slow and the demand is especially indifferent from the east.
On the other hand the export demand has been good.Provisions in the market has been a little easier at times, but the hog market has been higher, and the undertone has been particularly weak, as it is expected hog supplies will be moderate. The Western market for the week was steady, against 46¢ the preceding week and 50¢ a year ago.Range of Prices for the Week.

CHAS. A. STEVENS & BROS.

A Complete, Exclusive Specialty Shop for Women

Important Sale Event

All Our Exclusive Cloth Suits Reduced to $35

All our fine Cloth Suits—irrespective of their former high pricings—are marked for immediate selling at $35.

This important offering consists of a splendid assortment of the season's smartest suit models in the finest of tricotine, gabardines, serges and velour checks—several of them originally priced at two and three times the sale price here quoted.

This is not only the last opportunity of the season to secure one of these Suits of character but one of the best opportunities of the season for a remarkable saving on an especially desirable, high-class garment.

This great special selling begins today—the earlier your selection the greater your advantage in satisfying your particular preferences. The five Suits illustrated are typical of the admirable variety of stylish Suits you will have to choose from at $35.00.

Beautiful Skirts of Satin and Faille

Handsome White Satin Skirts—such as our Skirt Section is now offering—are beautifully appropriate for every semi-dress and outdoor occasion.

These rich-looking satin models are developed in a number of smart, trim styles—some venturing in soft, deeply laid folds, shirred pockets, and large cool-looking pearl buttons, which are exceedingly ornamental and stylish. An equally commendable assortment of refined Faille Silk Skirts. Prices from $15 to $25.

Serviceable Wide Wale Corduroys in the sports shades are especially desirable at $5.00, and an extensive selection of the newest Wash Skirts, developed in the best summer materials, are economically priced from $3.50 to $10.00.

Toilet Articles

Piver's Aurea and Le Trefle Incarnat Face Powder, 95c box.
Miro-Dena Astringent Lotion at $1.00 bottle.
Gordon's Freckle Cream at 50c box.
Kolynos Tooth Paste, 25c size, at 17c tube.
No phone or mail orders on these items.

Smart Satin Dresses

Our handsome new Satin Dresses are particularly smart and timely for informal and street wear.

In every one of the charming models we have just received, expert designing and skilled workmanship are revealed by the simple, stylish cut and splendid lines which will distinguish the wearer for her smart simplicity and correctly appropriate dress attire.

A most attractive selection of these satin models in lustrous black and becoming blues, featuring the new surplice front with fitted bodice, the latest of gracefully draped or peg-top skirts, straight line dresses with white satin vests and ball buttons, are priced from $50.00 to $65.00.

A most complete collection of lovely Nets, Georgettes, Crepe de Chines and practical Wash Dresses at attractive prices encompass your every need for the summer, whether you are planning for a delightful trip to the country or a pleasant, comfortable season at home.

Newest Midsummer Millinery

All White Milans—trimmed with breasts, wings or white flowers. Many have transparent crepe brims. All are new, becoming shapes, which makes this a wonderful assortment to select from. Most appropriate for afternoon wear. $10.00 and $15.00.

White Cushion Brim Milans, $3.95 to $10

Hats that are leaders of fashion for midsummer sports and street wear. The popularity of the Cushion Brim Milan is manifested by its scarcity in genuine fine quality.

A recent shipment makes our display complete with the newest models. Styles that include mushrooms, straight and turned up sailors, and close fitting shapes from which to make your selection.

Reduced for Clearance

Fabric and Straw Hats—in black and all the wanted colors. All are fresh and the styles are most desirable. Reduced for quick disposal to $5.00, $7.50, $10.00.

White Satin & Georgette Crepe Hats

In the most desirable styles. Some suitably combined with navy velvet, and simply trimmed with ornaments, hand made flower effects, or ribbon cockades—$7.50—$15.00.

Let Us Show You How We Can Improve Your Figure

By fitting you to a Gardenia laced in front Corset, so that sitting, standing or walking you will enjoy real comfort. Among our many Gardenia models we are showing two special Topless Corsets.

$3.50—$5.00

Practically a topless model, with band of elastic across the top that will delight the woman of slender figure.

Skirt is sufficiently long and boned to hold the prominence below the waist in back flat, without binding in an uncomfortable manner. Made of pink mercerized coutil. $3.50.

An exceptionally popular Gardenia model for medium figure desiring a very low bust corset with rubber inserts across the diaphragm.

Rather a straight outline, lightly boned, avoiding pressure on hip bone, and skirt-long enough to corset the figure from the waist down. Made of Pekin striped coutil. Pink only. $5.00.

Summer Silks at $1.15 Yard

We offer a collection of thousands of yards of new, high grade Summer Silks for dresses, coats, suits and waists at $1.15 per yard, a price much below the regular prices.

Colored Chiffon Taffeta, 36 inches wide, splendid quality, in a wide range of light and dark shades. Special, $1.15 yard.

Colored Crepe de Chine, 40-inch high grade Crepe de Chine, in light and dark shades, including ivory, white and black. Special, $1.15 yard.

White Tussor Pongee, a delightful silk for summer dresses and separate skirts, offered at about half regular price. Special, $1.15 yard.

Shantung Pongee, regular 33-inch imported Chinese Shantung Pongee, natural color. Special, $1.15 yard.

Black Taffeta, a 36-inch salt water finish black taffeta, specially adapted for bathing suits; also desirable for dresses and skirts. Special, $1.15 yard.

Black Satin de Chine, 35-inch fine, soft, bright finished silk for dresses and waists. Very special, $1.15 yard.

Lingerie Undergarments at $1.00

Your every undergarment requirement of the summer months may be economically supplied from this almost unlimited selection of Night Robes, Envelope Chemises, double-panel Petticoats, Drawer Combinations, Corset Covers and Chemises—priced for this special selling at $1.00.

A timely and advantageous purchase of the fine quality Nainsook, Batiste and Longcloth of which these splendid Undergarments are fashioned, enables us to offer them at such attractively low pricing that every woman will find it distinctly profitable to supply her requirements from this assortment.

The sketches illustrate convincingly the shapeliness, finish and variety of effective trimmings which emphasize the value of these splendid Undergarments so exceptionally priced at $1.00.

Grained "Ivory" Articles

Grained "Ivory" Hand Mirrors, Hair and Cloth Brushes, Jewel and Puff Boxes, Hair Receivers, Trays, Picture Frames, and Manicure Buffers at $1.00 each.

Ivory finish Manicure Buffers, in tray, 35c.
Grained "Ivory" Hand Mirrors, bonnet shape, at $2.95. Illustrated.

A New Patent Leather Bag

The illustration shows a very smart Patent Leather Bag to be worn with that new summer suit or dress. It is beautifully lined with all silk flowered lining, has top strap handle, with plain metal clasp, size 8 x 6 inches. Very unusual value at $2.95.

Another special value is offered in smaller size at $1.95.

Silk Gloves

We recommend to our customers a Glove the merit of which we have thoroughly tested—that is why we urge you to buy the glove with the name Kayser in the hem.
